EUROPE TO SEE NO PEACE TILL KAISER CRUSHED

GRIM STRUGGLE NOW ON TO THE FINISH

U. S. Soon Will Sign Peace Treaties With Several of the Great Powers

State Historical and Natural History Society

WASHINGTON, Sept 10 [illegible] is no present prospect of peace in Europe through the efforts of [illegible] or President Wilson himself se[illegible] at today rumors that peace [illegible] were in the making, by reveal[illegible] t no intimation had been conveyed to him officially from any quarter of a readiness on the part of one or more of the belligerents to talk peace.

The day's developments emphasized that Great Britain, France and Russia were grimly determined to make no peace until they had decisively beaten Germany and Austria Great Britain's position was explained in detail at London by Sir Edward Grey to Ambassador Page, who made a long report to President Wilson. The British foreign secretary declared England had not sought war, but, since it was forced on her, she was bent on crushing forever the dangers of German militarism to the world

Allies Will Exact Redress

Sir Edward also referred to the spoliation by Germany of the neutral territory of Belgium and pointed out that the allies would expect redress for that action.

The conference between the American ambassador and the British foreign secretary is said to have occurred on the initiative of the latter. Sir Edward Grey, it is understood, explained that in view of newspaper reports to the effect that Germany was ready to make peace, Great Britain did not want to appear in the light of blocking any move while Emperor William [illegible] the role of peace advocate

To make peace now while German troops held Belgium and a large part of France, might cause Germany [illegible] [illegible] on the basis [illegible], according to the British view.

Kaiser Doesn't Want Peace.

Asked whether the message he had received from Emperor William yesterday was susceptible of interpretation as a peace overture, the president said it did not open the way in that direction, protesting merely against the alleged use of dumdum bullets by the French and the activity of Belgian citizenry in the war

Present Inopportune Time.

Mr Wilson said he would reply soon to the emperor's message He has not decided yet however what form his answer will take. He is considering several alternatives, it is understood The answer may be merely a courteous acknowledgment of the German emperor's message, or it may be the expression of the hope that the rules of warfare laid down by The Hague convention will be binding on all belligerents The answer may refer to the first course to be the most likely, merely acknowledge the message "It was said the feeling was general among officials that the present was not the

TURKEY THROWS OFF AUTHORITY FOREIGN POWERS

MAY FORESHADOW WAR DECLARATION

Foreigners Hereafter Subject to Jurisdiction of the Ottoman Empire

WASHINGTON, Sept 10 —Turkey formally notified the United States and the nations of the world today that she had abrogated the series of conventions, treaties and privileges, originating as early as the Eleventh century, whereby foreigners in the Ottoman empire have been exempt from local jurisdiction in civil and criminal cases Foreign subjects no longer will enjoy what is known as extra territorial rights, through which they have been tried by their own judges, diplomats or consuls

This practice, abolished by Japan several years ago through the negotiation of new treaties, Turkey has removed by a stroke of the pen Her purpose, it is declared, is to assert her independence and free herself from the domination of the great powers

Hits American Missions.

Upon the rights revoked has rested the legal status of American missionaries in Turkey, permitting them to maintain churches, hospitals and schools in religious freedom. Administration officials declined tonight to discuss the effect of the action on American missions.

"The removal of every kind of privilege enjoyed by the powers in excess of what the general principles of international law allow is the meaning of this step," A Rustem Bey, Turkish ambassador to the United States, declared tonight "This war is Turkey's opportunity."

No intimation was given by the ambassador as to whether the action foreshadowed war on Great Britain, without whose consent in the past no such radical action would have been attempted.

Seeking Pretext for War.

Among the diplomats of the allied powers, however, the belief prevailed tonight that Turkey was appealing to the nationalist sentiment of her [illegible] and [illegible] to [illegible] difficulti that may rise with Great Britain as a pretext to declare war

The Turkish ambassador made known the action of his government in a public announcement which had been communicated to Secretary Bryan by him today as a formal note from the Ottoman empire The announcement follows:

"A cablegram to the Turkish ambassador from the Turkish minister of foreign affairs states that by imperial tirade the Ottoman government has abrogated as from the first of October, next the conventions known as the capitulations restricting the sovereignty of Turkey in her relations with certain powers.

"All privileges and immunities accessory to these conventions or issuing therefrom are equally repealed. Having thus freed itself from what was an intolerable obstacle to all progress in the empire, the imperial government has adopted as the basis of its relations with the other powers the general principles of international law."

As early as 1055 the sovereigns of Constantinople granted charters of

Encyclical to Episcopacy Urges Return to Fear of God and Cessation of Bloodshed

ROME, Sept. 10 The Osservatore Romano, the official organ of the Vatican, this afternoon publishes a pastoral letter from Pope Benedict XV in the form of an encyclical to the episcopacy of the world It contains the program for the pontificate of Pope Benedict, which, summarized, calls for renewed efforts to spread religion throughout the world and urges peace and brotherhood among peoples and nations in the fear of God

The encyclical, which is addressed to the universal Catholic world, deals chiefly with the European war.

Horrors of War.

'Looking out upon the flock entrusted to our care Pope Benedict says, 'the immense spectacle of a general war has struck us with unutterable horror and sadness

"When we see such a considerable portion of Europe devastated by fire and sword and drenched with the blood of Christians, it is incumbent upon us to embrace all without distinction, lambs and sheep, in the arms of paternal charity"

The pope implores intercession for peace to the virgin whose nativity has just been celebrated, and then continues

'We urge most earnestly those who govern the destiny of the nations that they should bring themselves to a frame of mind whereby they may put aside all dissensions contrary to the welfare of humanity

Too Much Sorrow.

"Let them realize that there already is too much suffering and sorrow attached to this mortal life and that it should not be rendered wretched or more sorrowful. let them realize how much ruin and disaster has been brought and how much human blood already has been shed."

Addressing the heads of the nations, the pope says'

"Hasten, therefore, to enter into a council of peace Grasp the right hand of friendship and receive a special reward from God for yourselves and your nations and earn the greatest praise from the brotherhood of man'

The encyclical ends by the pope expressing the hope that his pontificate will see the end of wars

ROME Sept 11 —(Friday)—The Naples newspaper Mattino today publishes an interview with Cardinal Gibbons in which the cardinal said that Pope Benedict had given him no special mission to request that President Wilson endeavor to bring about peace in the European war but had instructed him to do all possible to induce American public opinion to d[illegible] [illegible]

GREAT BRITAIN MAY BLOCKADE NORTH SEA TO STARVE GERMANS

LONDON, Sept. 10. There is general discussion of the possibility that England may close the North Sea, blockading it completely, if the trouble with floating mines continues.

The government's position is that the shipping of neutral nations is in great danger because of German mines. England has repeatedly stated that she will not resort to the use of mines. After the mine sweepers free the North Sea of the obstructions, however, naval strategists advise the exclusion of vessels which might plant more mines.

KONIGSBERG NOW IN FLAMES FROM RUSSIAN BOMBARDMENT

Great German Fortress in East Prussia Being Attacked; Czar's Troops Continue Victorious in Austria

LONDON, Sept. 11.—(Friday)—A dispatch to the Post from Copenhagen states that reports have been received there from Stettin that the Russians are bombarding Konigsberg, the strong German fortress in East Prussia, and that part of the city is in flames.

LONDON, Sept. 11.—(Friday)—According to a Petrograd dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph company, it is believed there that the German crown prince has been appointed commander-in-chief against the Russians.

Evacuation of Cracow Begins.

LONDON, Sept. 10 —A dispatch to the Reuter Telegram company from Petrograd says.

'Consternation prevails at Cracow The evacuation of the town has begun The authorities are trying to induce the members of the local rifle club to remain and assist in the defense of the place Many, however, have resigned their memberships because of sympathy with Russia"

Cracow has been described as the main rallying point for the Austrian and German forces in Galicia It is the old capital of the kingdom of Poland It is a city of about 100,000 population, about 100 miles west of Lemberg Between Cracow and Lemberg is the very strong Austrian position of Przemysl, still in possession of the Austrians.

Serious Fighting in Galicia.

WASHINGTON Sept 10 - The Russian embassy issued tonight the following statement.

"The success gained by our troops over the Austro-German army at Krasnik on September 9 is developing on the front from Tomassow and Rawa Rsuka to the river Dneister Serious fighting is in progress.

"German troops, transported from the western front, have been concentrated in East Prussia on the river Alle On September 8, they began to advance in considerable columns through the Mazur lake regions

Slav Nations Support Czar.

PETROGRAD, Sept. 10 —The movement in Roumania favoring the triple entente is causing irritation to the Hungarian government which has forbidden the teaching of the Roumanian language in Roumanian schools in Transylvania

The Roumanian Journal Dreptata says that in the districts bordering on Roumania the people are in sympathy with the Russians and expresses the belief that the Roumanian troops will march with the Russian troops.

Austrian prisoners who have arrived at Poltava bring reports that the financial condition of Austria is bad, that the people are discontented with the war and that a general panic is spreading through Hungary

AMERICAN BANKERS MAY TAKE OVER ALL EUROPEAN ACCOUNTS

Stand Ready to Relieve Europe of Indebtedness of This Country

3,000,000 MEN ENGAGED IN THREE GREAT BATTLES BEING FOUGHT IN FRANCE

Germans Driven 40 Miles North by Allies in the Recent Fighting East of Paris

Struggle Expected to Last Several Days; Kaiser's Troops Becoming Exhausted; England Calls for Half a Million More Recruits; North Sea May Be Blockaded to Cut Germany's Food Supply

LONDON, Sept. 10. The crucial battle of the war in France has not yet reached any decisive result Field Marshal Sir John French, commander of the British forces, reported today that the Germans had been driven back all along the line; that the British had crossed the river Marne; that the Germans had suffered severely, and that their men were supposed to be in a very exhausted condition.

Notwithstanding this report, the military experts do not rush to sweeping conclusions. The military writers in the London papers repeat that from the conservative terms of the French official statement yesterday, it is too early to anticipate the result of a battle extending over a front of nearly 100 miles. Three million men is the number estimated to be engaged actively and as reserves and three great battles at least are in progress.

BATTLE MAY LAST SEVERAL DAYS.

Probably the fiercest struggle is against the French center, between Rheims and Verdun, while the British army is contesting a second hard-fought engagement against the German right. The Germans are believed still to be attacking the French right, from Verdun to Nancy.

Lesser fighting is in progress in Alsace, from which province the Germans appear to have drawn away part of their army, and the French are taking advantage of this opportunity.

The great battle may continue for days, when it is remembered that smaller operations in Manchuria, in which hundreds of thousands only were concerned, lasted a fortnight.

FIGHTING IN PROGRESS FOR 20 DAYS

The German western armies have been fighting almost continuously for 20 days, and, until the last phase of the campaign, on the offensive.

That the German navy has not been without enterprise is revealed in the admiralty announcement today that the British cruiser Pathfinder was destroyed by a German submarine, not by a mine, as was at first supposed. The German craft which ventured so far from its base is given credit for its enterprise.

ENGLAND MAY CLOSE NORTH SEA

Another mine disaster, the victim of which was the tramp steamer Ottawa, has been added to the list, and the advisability of closing the North sea to merchant shipping is being discussed.

Both England and Germany would suffer through strangulation of their trade, England losing food supplies from Scandinavian countries, while Holland promised to be Germany's principal avenue of commerce with the outer world.

That the Germans are concentrating all the strengh in the western field of warfare against the main French front appears to be confirmed by reports which have arrived through Holland. Most of the troops left in Belgium are said to be men past the prime of life, of the landstrum, while 30,000 or 40,000 naval reserves are marching in to replace the depleted garrisons.

ENGLAND CALLS FOR 500,000 RECRUITS

The house of commons voted today unanimously for a half million more recruits, The country was surprised by the announcement that 450,000 men already had been enlisted since the beginning of the war.

When the government's plans are completed, the British army for the continent and for home service will consist roughly of the following:

Regular army, 1,200,000; territorials, 300,000; reserves, 214,000; Indian contingent, 70,000; Canadian first and second contingents, 40,000; Australians, 20,000, and New Zealand, 10,000, making a total of 1,854,000 men.

This tremendous enrollment for a country which normally has only a small professional army has thrown light upon the government's views regarding the duration of the war, or, at least, upon its determination to meet all possibilities

BRITISH LOSS UP TO DATE 19,000 MEN

A casualty list published tonight brings the army's losses to nearly 19,000 men, exclusive of the past three days' fighting.

Yet this big toll from the small army seems in no wise to depress the country.

The news from the eastern theater of war today was very scant. The German and Austrian representatives minimize the importance of the occupation of Lemberg. A Vienna dispatch says the occupation of the city was part of a strategic campaign to draw the Russians into Galicia. Petrograd reports claim that Archduke Frederick's army lost 120,000 men, that the evacuation of Cracow had commenced and that the fall of both Cracow and Premysl is imminent.

The British navy has accomplished a daring, although unproductive, attempt to draw the German battle fleet into action. A great array of squadrons and flotillas made a sweep into the North sea for two days, penetrating into the bight of Helgoland, but failed to discover any German craft.

EUROPE TO SEE NO PEACE TILL KAISER CRUSHED

GRIM STRUGGLE NOW ON TO THE FINISH

U. S. Soon Will Sign Peace Treaties With Sev[illegible] of the Great Po[illegible]

State Historical and Natural History Society

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10 [illegible] no present prospect of pea[illegible] Europe through the efforts of [illegible]. President Wilson himself se[illegible] today rumors that peace [illegible] were in the making, by reveal[illegible] no intimation had been conve[illegible] to him officially from any quarter of a readiness on the part of one or more of the belligerents to talk peace.

The day's developments emphasized that Great Britain, France and Russia were grimly determined to make no peace until they had decisively beaten Germany and Austria. Great Britain's position was explained in detail at London by Sir Edward Grey to Ambassador Page, who made a long report to President Wilson. The British foreign secretary declared England had not sought war, but, since it was forced on her, she was bent on crushing forever the dangers of German militarism to the world.

Allies Will Exact Redress.

Sir Edward also referred to the spoliation by Germany of the neutral territory of Belgium and pointed out that the allies would expect redress for that action.

The conference between the American ambassador and the British foreign secretary is said to have occurred on the initiative of the latter. Sir Edward Grey, it is understood, explained that in view of newspaper reports to the effect that Germany was ready to make peace, Great Britain did not want to appear in the light of blocking the move while Emperor William assumed the role of peace advocate.

To make peace now while German troops held Belgium and a large part of France, might cause Germany to exact unreasonable terms on the basis of occupied territory, according to the British view.

Kaiser Doesn't Want Peace.

Asked whether the message he had received from Emperor William yesterday was susceptible of interpretation as a peace overture, the president said it did not open the way in that direction, protesting merely against the alleged use of dumdum bullets by the French and the activity of Belgian citizenry in the war.

Present Inopportune Time.

Mr. Wilson said he would reply soon to the emperor's message. He has not decided yet, however, what form his answer will take. He is considering several alternatives, it is understood. The answer may be merely a courteous acknowledgment of the German emperor's message, or it may be the expression of the hope that the rules of warfare laid down by The Hague conventions will be binding on all belligerents. The answer may refer to the first course to be the most likely, merely acknowledge the message. It was said the feeling was general among officials that the present was not the

MAY FORESHADOW WAR DECLARATION

Foreigners Hereafter Subject to Jurisdiction of the Ottoman Empire

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—Turkey formally notified the United States and the nations of the world today that she had abrogated the series of conventions, treaties and privileges, originating as early as the Eleventh century, whereby foreigners in the Ottoman empire have been exempt from local jurisdiction in civil and criminal cases. Foreign subjects no longer will enjoy what is known as extra territorial rights, through which they have been tried by their own judges, diplomats or consuls.

This practice, abolished by Japan several years ago through the negotiation of new treaties, Turkey has removed by a stroke of the pen. Her purpose, it is declared, is to assert her independence and free herself from the domination of the great powers.

Hits American Missions.

Upon the rights revoked has rested the legal status of American missionaries in Turkey, permitting them to maintain churches, hospitals and schools in religious freedom. Administration officials declined tonight to discuss the effect of the action on American missions.

"The removal of every kind of privilege enjoyed by the powers in excess of what the general principles of international law allow is the meaning of this step," A. Rustem Bey, Turkish ambassador to the United States, declared tonight. "This war is Turkey's opportunity."

No intimation was given by the ambassador as to whether the action foreshadowed war on Great Britain, without whose consent in the past no such radical action would have been attempted.

Seeking Pretext for War.

Among the diplomats of the allied powers, however, the belief prevailed tonight that Turkey was appealing to the nationalist sentiment of her people and was ready to seize upon any difficulties that may rise with Great Britain as a pretext to declare war.

The Turkish ambassador made known the action of his government in a public announcement which had been communicated to Secretary Bryan by him today as a formal note from the Ottoman empire. The announcement follows:

"A cablegram to the Turkish ambassador from the Turkish minister of foreign affairs states that by imperial irade the Ottoman government has abrogated as from the first of October, next, the conventions known as the capitulations restricting the sovereignty of Turkey in her relations with certain powers.

"All privileges and immunities accessory to these conventions or issuing therefrom are equally repealed. Having thus freed itself from what was an intolerable obstacle to all progress in the empire, the imperial government has adopted as the basis of its relations with the other powers the general principles of international law."

As early as 1055 the sovereigns of Constantinople granted charters of

Encyclical to Episcopacy Urges Return to Fear of God and Cessation of Bloodshed

ROME, Sept. 10. The Osservatore Romano, the official organ of the Vatican, this afternoon publishes a pastoral letter from Pope Benedict XV in the form of an encyclical to the episcopacy of the world. It contains the program for the pontificate of Pope Benedict, which, summarized, calls for renewed efforts to spread religion throughout the world and urges peace and brotherhood among peoples and nations in the fear of God.

The encyclical, which is addressed to the universal Catholic world, deals chiefly with the European war.

Horrors of War.

"Looking out upon the flock entrusted to our care," Pope Benedict says, "the immense spectacle of a general war has struck us with unutterable horror and sadness.

"When we see such a considerable portion of Europe devastated by fire and sword and drenched with the blood of Christians, it is incumbent upon us to embrace all without distinction, lambs and sheep, in the arms of paternal charity."

The pope implores intercession for peace to the virgin whose nativity has just been celebrated, and then continues:

"We urge most earnestly those who govern the destiny of the nations that they should bring themselves to a frame of mind whereby they may put aside all dissensions contrary to the welfare of humanity.

Too Much Sorrow.

"Let them realize that there already is too much suffering and sorrow attached to this mortal life and that it should not be rendered wretched or more sorrowful; let them realize how much ruin and disaster has been brought and how much human blood already has been shed."

Addressing the heads of the nations, the pope says:

"Hasten, therefore, to enter into a council of peace. Grasp the right hand of friendship and receive a special reward from God for yourselves and your nations and earn the greatest praise from the brotherhood of man."

The encyclical ends by the pope expressing the hope that his pontificate will see the end of wars.

ROME, Sept. 11.—(Friday)—The Naples newspaper Mattino today publishes an interview with Cardinal Gibbons in which the cardinal said that Pope Benedict had given him no special mission to request that President Wilson endeavor to bring about peace in the European war but had instructed him to do all possible to induce American public opinion to demand peace.

DEATH CLAIMS HENRY TEMPLETON, PIONEER

Was One of Region's Earliest Settlers, Crossing Plains 52 Years Ago

Henry Templeton, one of Colorado's oldest pioneers and earliest settlers, died early yesterday morning at the home of his daughter, Mrs. J. S. Arthur, 1104 Colorado avenue. Mr. Templeton was 83 years old. He had been in ill health for several years.

Five daughters and three sons survive him, Miss Sarah Templeton, Mrs.

GREAT BRITAIN MAY BLOCKADE NORTH SEA TO STARVE GERMANS

LONDON, Sept. 10.—There is general discussion of the possibility that England may close the North Sea, blockading it completely, if the trouble with floating mines continues.

The government's position is that the shipping of neutral nations is in great danger because of German mines. England has repeatedly stated that she will not resort to the use of mines. After the mine sweepers free the North Sea of the obstructions, however, naval strategists advise the exclusion of vessels which might plant more mines.

KONIGSBERG NOW IN FLAMES FROM RUSSIAN BOMBARDMENT

LONDON, Sept. 11.—(Friday)—A dispatch to the Post from Copenhagen states that reports have been received there from Stettin that the Russians are bombarding Konigsberg, the strong German fortress in East Prussia, and that part of the city is in flames.

LONDON, Sept. 11.—(Friday)—According to a Petrograd dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph company, it is believed there that the German crown prince has been appointed commander-in-chief against the Russians.

Evacuation of Cracow Begins.

LONDON, Sept. 10.—A dispatch to the Reuter Telegram company from Petrograd says:

"Consternation prevails at Cracow. The evacuation of the town has begun. The authorities are trying to induce the members of the local rifle club to remain and assist in the defense of the place. Many, however, have resigned their memberships because of sympathy with Russia."

Cracow has been described as the main rallying point for the Austrian and German forces in Galicia. It is the old capital of the kingdom of Poland. It is a city of about 100,000 population, about 100 miles west of Lemberg. Between Cracow and Lemberg is the very strong Austrian position of Przemysl, still in possession of the Austrians.

Serious Fighting in Galicia.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—The Russian embassy issued tonight the following statement:

"The success gained by our troops over the Austro-German army at Krasnik on September 8 is developing on the front from Tomaszow and Rawa Ruska to the river Dneister. Serious fighting is in progress.

"German troops, transported from the western front, have been concentrated in East Prussia on the river Alle. On September 8 they began to advance in considerable columns through the Mazur lake regions."

Slav Nations Support Czar.

PETROGRAD, Sept. 10.—The movement in Roumania favoring the triple entente is causing irritation to the Hungarian government, which has forbidden the teaching of the Roumanian language in Roumanian schools in Transylvania.

The Roumanian Journal Dreptata says that in the districts bordering on Roumania the people are in sympathy with the Russians, and expresses the belief that the Roumanian troops will march with the Russian troops.

Austrian prisoners who have arrived at Poltava bring reports that the financial condition of Austria is bad; that the people are discontented with the war and that a general panic is spreading through Hungary.

Suit Brought to Oust Sugar Co. in Louisiana for Lowering Prices

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 10.—Suit to oust the American Sugar Refining company from Louisiana was brought in the civil district court here today in the name of the state. The suit is based upon an article of the state constitution which forbids any person or corporation from conspiring to force down the price of any agricultural product. One of the principal charges is that the corporation artificially depresses the price of sugar to the detriment of the planter.

AMERICAN BANKERS MAY TAKE OVER ALL EUROPEAN ACCOUNTS

Stand Ready to Relieve Europe of Indebtedness of This Country

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—Although the problem of readjusting the foreign exchange market has not been solved, reports today to the federal reserve board from prominent New York bankers indicate that conditions have improved greatly and that there is little cause for concern.

J. P. Morgan, Jacob H. Schiff and Benjamin Strong, Jr., New York bankers, conferred with the board today for two hours. Their visit had to do with the part New York banks are expected to play in relieving the foreign exchange market, but it was said tonight that they were also able to state that conditions throughout the country showed marked improvement.

Take Over Foreign Accounts.

The bankers told the board that New York banks stand prepared to underwrite $80,000,000 obligations of New York city in the hands of European creditors which come due within the next few months. In return, members

3,000,000 MEN ENGAGED IN THREE GREAT BATTLES BEING FOUGHT IN FRANCE

Germans Driven 40 Miles North by Allies in the Recent Fighting East of Paris

Struggle Expected to Last Several Days; Kaiser's Troops Becoming Exhausted; England Calls for Half a Million More Recruits; North Sea May Be Blockaded to Cut Germany's Food Supply

LONDON, Sept. 10. The crucial battle of the war in France has not yet reached any decisive result. Field Marshal Sir John French, commander of the British forces, reported today that the Germans had been driven back all along the line; that the British had crossed the river Marne; that the Germans had suffered severely, and that their men were supposed to be in a very exhausted condition.

Notwithstanding this report, the military experts do not rush to sweeping conclusions. The military writers in the London papers repeat that from the conservative terms of the French official statement yesterday, it is too early to anticipate the result of a battle extending over a front of nearly 100 miles. Three million men is the number estimated to be engaged actively and as reserves and three great battles at least are in progress.

BATTLE MAY LAST SEVERAL DAYS.

Probably the fiercest struggle is against the French center, between Rheims and Verdun, while the British army is contesting a second hard-fought engagement against the German right. The Germans are believed still to be attacking the French right, from Verdun to Nancy.

Lesser fighting is in progress in Alsace, from which province the Germans appear to have drawn away part of their army, and the French are taking advantage of this opportunity.

The great battle may continue for days, when it is remembered that smaller operations in Manchuria, in which hundreds of thousands only were concerned, lasted a fortnight.

FIGHTING IN PROGRESS FOR 20 DAYS

The German western armies have been fighting almost continuously for 20 days, and, until the last phase of the campaign, on the offensive.

That the German navy has not been without enterprise is revealed in the admiralty announcement today that the British cruiser Pathfinder was destroyed by a German submarine, not by a mine, as was at first supposed. The German craft which ventured so far from its base is given credit for its enterprise.

ENGLAND MAY CLOSE NORTH SEA

Another mine disaster, the victim of which was the tramp steamer Ottawa, has been added to the list, and the advisability of closing the North sea to merchant shipping is being discussed.

Both England and Germany would suffer through strangulation of their trade, England losing food supplies from Scandinavian countries, while Holland promised to be Germany's principal avenue of commerce with the outer world.

That the Germans are concentrating all the strengh in the western field of warfare against the main French front appears to be confirmed by reports which have arrived through Holland. Most of the troops left in Belgium are said to be men past the prime of life, of the landstrum, while 30,000 or 40,000 naval reserves are marching in to replace the depleted garrisons.

ENGLAND CALLS FOR 500,000 RECRUITS

The house of commons voted today unanimously for a half million more recruits. The country was surprised by the announcement that 450,000 men already had been enlisted since the beginning of the war.

When the government's plans are completed, the British army for the continent and for home service will consist roughly of the following:

Regular army, 1,200,000; territorials, 300,000; reserves, 214,000; Indian contingent, 70,000; Canadian first and second contingents, 40,000; Australians, 20,000, and New Zealand, 10,000, making a total of 1,854,000 men.

This tremendous enrollment for a country which normally has only a small professional army has thrown light upon the government's views regarding the duration of the war, or, at least, upon its determination to meet all possibilities.

BRITISH LOSS UP TO DATE 19,000 MEN

A casualty list published tonight brings the army's losses to nearly 19,000 men, exclusive of the past three days' fighting.

Yet this big toll from the small army seems in no wise to depress the country.

The news from the eastern theater of war today was very scant. The German and Austrian representatives minimize the importance of the occupation of Lemberg. A Vienna dispatch says the occupation of the city was part of a strategic campaign to draw the Russians into Galicia. Petrograd reports claim that Archduke Frederick's army lost 120,000 men, that the evacuation of Cracow had commenced and that the fall of both Cracow and Premysl is imminent.

The British navy has accomplished a daring, although unproductive, attempt to draw the German battle fleet into action. A great array of squadrons and flotillas made a sweep into the North sea for two days, penetrating into the bight of Helgoland, but failed to discover any German craft.

Freshies and Sophs Begin Fight at 6:30

The annual freshmen-sophomore class fight at Colorado college will be held this morning at 6 30 o'clock All last night the members of both classes were out tying each other and the unlucky ones were taken to the mesa or to other places far from town

Tradition has it that in the last 10 years only one freshmen class has been able to win from the sophomores Although the beginning class generally has the advantage in numbers the upper classmen have the advantage of defending the pole. A flag is fastened 15 feet from the ground and the sophs are grouped around the pole The freshmen are on the offensive and try to get the flag The time limit is 15 minutes The juniors and seniors officiate, allowing no slugging or strangling This year the freshmen outnumber the sophs two to one

American Correspondents With German Army Tell Harrowing Stories of Their Experiences

ROTTERDAM, via London, Sept 10 The party of American correspondents who accompanied the German army for nearly two weeks across Belgium and into France found themselves safe on Dutch soil today after being held prisoners by the Germans for four days under unusual circumstances The Associated Press correspondent reached Rotterdam late last night

For the last week the party had been under surveillance at Aix-la-Chapelle whither they had been brought on a train with prisoners from Beaumont, Belgium

The party included Roger Lewis the Associated Press Irvin S. Cobb, the Saturday Evening Post and Philadelphia Public Ledger, James O'Donnell Bennett and John T McCutcheon, the Chicago Tribune, and Harry Hansen, the Chicago Daily News

Only Correspondents With Army.

With them on the trip to Aix-la-Chapelle were three other correspondents, Maurice Gerbauld, a Belgium correspondent Lawrence Stein Stevens, an American artist formerly of Detroit, and Victoria Henneheard, King Albert's special photographer

The party of five Americans left Brussels on August 28 with special military passes and were the only correspondents who were successful in following the German army

The party succeeded in marching along with the army some times in sight of fighting until Beaumont was reached Here the Germans had established temporary headquarters At Beaumont the correspondents were held up by Commandant Mittendorfer whose suspicions against all newspaper men had been aroused by a party of three correspondents picked up the previous day who represented themselves as Americans, although two of them were Belgians The trio were taken to a Beaumont jail The party included Gerbauld, Stevens and Henneheard and the negro chauffeur, All were arrested for photographing and traveling in an automobile which unlawfully carried a Red Cross flag

Treated Courteously.

The American party was allowed to spend the night on the stone floor of a Belgian school house, which had been converted into barracks for the German troops The correspondents were treated by the soldiers, who, after the day's 30-mile march sang danced and otherwise entertained them royally until midnight The next day the Americans were kept waiting in the public square in the center of a group which included Prince August Wilhelm the third son of the emperor, and other high military authorities.

After being repeatedly told they were not prisoners, the Americans were locked up with the other three correspondents arrested the day before Stevens had already been sentenced to be shot as an English spy

The jail was filthy and one side was stacked with tons of German high explosives—a rather uncomfortable situation in view of the fact that other prisoners were constantly lighting cigarettes under cover of their straw bedding

Not Really Prisoners.

After a short incarceration the Americans through the kindness of a German lieutenant were removed to a small cafe adjoining the prison, to which later they were followed by the other three suspects who were the cause of their detention

For two nights they slept on the floor under a heavy guard and still were told that they were not prisoners, but warned that they would be shot if they moved one step out of the house After they had given their word of honor that they would not attempt to escape their guard was doubled No food was supplied the prisoners their only sustenance being a bottle of wine During their imprisonment the Americans received an alarming visit from an intoxicated German officer who called them English spies and insisted on giving convincing demonstrations of the sharpness of his sword when he heard English spoken

In Danger Being Shot.

Finally one night the Americans were taken with 100 French and 100 English prisoners to a prison train, the destination of which was unknown They were asked politely enough by the German officers to walk alongside the prisoners and act as guards At the same time the officer said in aside to the German guard

Keep your eyes open on these Americans If they move or step from the ranks shoot them"

The train carrying besides the prisoners, several cars of wounded German soldiers arrived a Aix-la-Chappelle after a two-days slow journey All eight of the correspondents were packed into a single second-class compartment without food or drink, and at the mercy of Belgian snipers, who frequently fired from houses as the train passed The party arrived at Aix-la-Chappelle carefully guarded, and was forbidden to leave the city

The surveillance of the military guard and the police relaxed when the authorities discovered that the American correspondents had in their possession accounts favorable to the German army The party finally crossed the Dutch border without permission of the authorities

Quotes Bible as Solution of War

A C Goebelein of New York based his Bible talk at the First Presbyterian church last night on the European war The only solution of war, he said is when nations "shall beat their swords into plowshares and their spears into pruning hooks nation shall not lift up sword against nation, neither shall they learn war any more Such conditions will be possible only when God's appointed ruler shall reign over the whole world from Jerusalem he declared

Dr Gaebelein will conduct two more services in this city at the Y M C. A this afternoon at 4 o'clock and at the First Presbyterian church tonight at 8 o'clock Tonight he will speak on The Call of God to His People The talk will be a practical application of the series of addresses he has given during this week

MERCHANTS DIVISION WILL MEET TONIGHT

A regular meeting of America Anderson auxiliary will be held at the home of Mrs Laura Donahue 1121 North Corona street this afternoon at 2 30 o'clock

extra territorial privileges called "capitulations," from the fact that they were divided into chapters

The Venetians were the first granted the right of trial by judges appointed in Venice and permanently residing in Constantinople.

Immediately after the Young Turks gained control of the government the powers were sounded as to the possible abrogation of the capitulations The reply was unfavorable it being held that the new regime should justify its ability to govern wisely and administer justice fairly before the powers would surrender the rights under which their citizens in Turkey were protected Today's declaration so far as is known, was not prefaced by any such discussion with the powers

The Turkish ambassador described the privileges abrogated as relating to economics and the administration of justice.

Abolishes Discriminations.

In the economic field" he said "the Turkish government cannot fix or change the customs duties without the consent of the foreign powers Nor can the Turkish government impose a professional tax on foreigners because the powers have not consented and a great discrimination has been made against the natives

In the administration of justice the Ottoman government is not free to deal with culprits of foreign nations in the matter of certain trials without intervention of the representatives of the foreign ambassador or minister of the country to which the culprit owed allegiance In certain cases, foreigners cannot be imprisoned in the native prisons, but in those of the consulates

"These restrictions weigh heavily on the Ottoman state both materially and morally materially, by depriving it of the financial resources which other countries are free to create according to their discretion

Stifles Moral Independence

"In that way, Turkey has been prevented from introducing those reforms which it has been accused of delaying precisely by those powers who, owing to the enjoyment of those privileges, stood in the way of progressive action on the part of the government morally it has deprived Turkey of that confidence which full independence gives to a state Deprived of that independence the moral fiber of the nation relaxed"

In diplomatic circles the announcement of Turkey's attitude attracted the widest attention The allies are known to expect at any moment a declaration of war by Turkey in behalf of Germany Comment was heard among diplomats of the allied powers as to possible deliberations between the German foreign office and the porte before the decision to abrogate the treaties was reached by Turkey There was a suggestion also that Germany had encouraged the move

So far as diplomats of the allies would venture an opinion the prediction was made that Great Britain France and Russia probably would not make any representations on the subject to Turkey at this time leaving it until the close of the war

EUROPE TO SEE NO PEACE TILL KAISER CRUSHED

time to press for peace with prospects of success

"We haven't gotten to the point," said Secretary Bryan today in response to a question "where we can take up the subject of mediation"

Every one wants peace" remarked Ambassador Jusserand of France to a friend as he was leaving the state department today, "but"—with a gesture of resignation—"now it is war"

The ambassador said that as a result of the protest of Emperor William he had been authorized by his government to inform President Wilson that no bullets whatsoever not approved by the Hague conference either have been used by the soldiers or will be used

The ambassador talked briefly with Secretary Bryan about the peace commission treaty which he expects to be authorized to sign in a few days.

Agree to Treaty Texts

In the midst of the diplomatic chaos in Europe Great Britain, France Spain and China it became known today, have agreed with the United States on the text of treaties to be signed in a few days They provide for the investigation by a commission for a period of one year or more of all international disputes that may arise between these countries and the United States.

One effect of the signing of the treaties would be to prevent this country from being suddenly drawn into the European war over neutrality questions or other unexpected difficulties

Nineteen such treaties have been signed and ratified by the senate Secretary Bryan, who has personally negotiated them all, hopes to have 30 on record by Christmas, cementing the friendship of the United States with the world and making most remote the possibility of war between the United States and any nation.

There was some discussion today as to whether the celebration of the one-hundredth anniversary of the signing of the treaty of Ghent would be held as planned. Secretary Bryan is chairman of an honorary commission and England and Belgium are represented here by committees which had been planning an elaborate celebration No decision has been reached on the subject so far is known.

To Protest Closing of Ogden Gateway

A recent order from the Union Pacific railroad system effective October 1, by which it is proposed to close the Ogden gateway both east and westbound to passenger travel through Colorado over other lines, was taken up by the transportation committee of the Chamber of Commerce yesterday F A Wadleigh passenger traffic manager of the Denver & Rio Grande with headquarters in Denver presented his company's side of the question

He pointed out that should the Ogden gateway be closed a number of railroads now operating in Colorado would be unable to ticket passengers to Oregon Shortline destinations through this state and Utah, and that the result would be to divert a great deal of tourist travel through Colorado A part of this diverted travel, it is declared, would move through Cheyenne and Granger although the major part which has heretofore passed through Colorado and Utah would be ticketed through St Paul Billings and other northwestern routes.

Several protests against this action have been made and the committee on transportation will report to the board of directors next week [illegible] position of the Chamber of Commerce [illegible] If the organization favors an official protest the question will be referred to the interstate commerce commission There is no indication at this time what action will be taken according to Secretary Henderson

U. S. IS READY TO AID SOUTH AMERICA

Industrial and Financial Problems Are Considered at Conference

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—Industrial and financial problems in Latin-America, due to the war, were outlined today to representatives of United States banking and commercial interests who immediately set on foot a relief movement. After members of the diplomatic and consular corps of the distressed countries had set forth their needs, the conference organized under the auspices of the departments of state and commerce and authorized Secretary Redfield to name a committee to determine upon concrete instructions and decide whether another general conference will be necessary.

New markets must be found for the products of the South American countries, the conference was told, and a system of exchange established that would produce revenues for crop moving and development purposes.

Great Trade Opportunity.

The tremendous opportunity for the growth of American trade on the South American continent was urged as an incentive for immediate action.

Several South Americans urged that American money be employed for the development of huge industrial enterprises, but representatives of the banking interests agreed that the problem at home would not permit that at the present time.

It was urged that the European war had given the United States an opportunity to take over both the export and import business which formerly went abroad.

U. S. Will Render Aid.

The conference committee will consist of representatives of the National Foreign Trade council, already at work on the problem, with a consular delegation in New York, and agents of American commercial organizations and the Panamerican union. The trade council's board consists of its chairman, James A. Farrell, E. P. Thomas, president of the United States Steel Products company; Willard Straight, of the American Asiatic association; William Bayne, president of the New York Coffee exchange, and representatives of exporting and commercial firms.

Secretary Redfield assured the diplomats that American manufacturers and bankers would extend all cooperation possible. He declared the main needs for developing commerce between the two continents consisted of a system of direct exchange, steady means of transportation and a thorough understanding. He insisted that the government of South America should cooperate in the establishment of a direct exchange system.

FLOODS IN CHINA DELAY ATTACK ON TSING-TAU BY JAPS

Great Havoc Is Wrought in Shan-Tung Province; Many Drowned

PEKIN, Sept. 10.—The elements have delayed unexceptedly the Japanese advance on Tsing-Tau. Floods cover the surrounding country and are spreading inland beyond Wei-Hsien. The waters continue to rise and it is said it may be months before the Japanese can begin their investment of the stronghold, which now can be reached only by boat.

Great Havoc Wrought.

PEKIN, Sept. 10.—Loss of life and great distruction of property are attending the floods spreading over the Shan-Tung peninsula. A correspondent at Weihsien telegraphs as follows:

"The Weihsien river, ordinarily a small stream flowing placidly 15 feet below the level of the town, is now a flood causing enormous damage. It poured through the city gates reaching its crest apparently on Tuesday night. On that night the American and British teachers at the Weihsien missionary college were aroused by the crash of falling walls and heart rendering cries of despairing Chinese. Leaving their homes, the teachers plunged into the waters and rescued many from drowning. The American physicians, by the use of canoes which they skilfully managed in the dangerous currents, rescued a number of women patients at the hospitals.

"The authorities closed the city's gates in an attempt to stay the waters and 40 market men caught outside the walls were swept away to their death. Many persons were drowned and the homeless and destitute number thousands in Weihsien alone. Weihsien's experience is typical of that of scores and perhaps hundreds of other towns and villages in Shan-Tung.

"The writer, on Sunday, after drifting all night in a sampion, entered the village of Matou and found it the center of a river 10 miles wide."

PARLIAMENT MEMBERS SCORE WAR CENSORSHIP

LONDON, Sept. 10.—The official press bureau and censorship were again under fire in the house of commons this evening, several members complaining that the accounts of the British fighting were too meager and that the result was that false news detrimental to England became current in neutral countries. T. P. O'Connor, one of the Irish leaders, pleaded for a complete reform in the cable censorship. There was, Mr. O'Connor said, no public in the world which should be so well and so adequately informed with regard to the causes of the war, the incidents of the war, and the principles of the war, as the public of the United States.

AMERICAN BANKERS MAY TAKE OVER ALL EUROPEAN ACCOUNTS

of the board expressed the view that New York banks should not be required to contribute to the proposed general fund of $150,000,000 to take care of the total of American obligations to Europe. New York's $80,000,000 was included in the $150,000,000 suggested by the recent bankers' conference here as necessary to care for all such obligations.

The board has not acted favorably upon the plan for creating the $150,000,000 pool, but has passed from consideration of the principle involved to details. One point which has caused discussion is the suggestion that the board indicate the amounts of gold to be contributed by each bank. The board so far has felt reluctant to make a suggestion of this sort which might look like an order coming from such a source.

Half of Fund Taken.

No report has reached the board so far from all the clearing house associations of the country showing the gold purchased by all banks. Such reports will precede any action to carry out the plan.

Comptroller of the Currency Williams tonight reported that $256,170,000 of the Aldrich-Vreeland currency has been taken out by banks up to the close of business of September 8, 1914. Of this, the eastern states, including New York, took $154,753,000; $18,649,000 went to New England; $25,162,000 to the southern states; $50,756,000 to the middle states, including Chicago; $1,652,000 to the western states and $5,698,000 to the Pacific states.

Some Fish Story! Hooks Submarine, but It Gets Away

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 10.—Honors for hooking the biggest fish that ever got away go to Martin Ulrich, a salesman of Oakland, who was himself authority for the story today.

Ulrich and a party of friends were out fishing for big fish in Ulrich's launch, "Germany," off Angel island in San Francisco bay. Suddenly his line gave a violent tug. He grasped it with all his might and so strong was the pull that the launch began to plunge wildly through the waves.

After a few minutes of excited uncertainty, something strange and shapeless rose from a whirl of foam ahead. It was submarine K-37, taking a practice spin. Ulrich's hook had fouled a ring on the exterior of the submarine. He cut the line.

EMBARGO ON ARMS TO MEXICO IS LIFTED

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—Secretary McAdoo sent this telegram today to collectors of customs on the Mexican border:

"In view of the restoration of peace in Mexico, collectors and other officers may in the future treat arms and ammunition as ordinary commercial shipments and permit them to go forward accordingly."

HOLCOMB HEADS G. O. P. TICKET IN CONNECTICUT

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Sept. 10.—Judge Marcus H. Holcomb of Southington was nominated for governor at the Republican state convention here today. United States Senator Frank B. Brandegee was renominated unanimously.

COST OF SHOES GOES UP ON ACCOUNT OF WAR

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—"The cost of shoes is going up," according to a statement issued here tonight by a committee representing the delegates to a conference of the National Shoe Wholesalers association and the National Retailers association.

The statement places the blame on the European war that has seriously curtailed the importation of hides and skins.

WAR REVENUE BILL TO COME UP TODAY

Plan Devised to Raise $107,000,000 a Year by New Taxation Scheme

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—In agreeing today on a war revenue measure which will tax freight transportation and increase revenue taxes on beer and domestic wines, Democrats of the ways and means committee paved the way for relieving the government of financial stringency due to the European war. Administration leaders in both houses predicted the bill as framed would be passed without prolonged discussion. Chairman Underwood of the committee said the measure had the approval of the president and his advisers.

The bill contemplates an annual revenue estimated at $107,000,000. The tax on beer will be increased from $1 to $1.50 a barrel; wines will be taxed an additional 20 cents a gallon, and a 3 per cent tax on freight transportation bills, including railroad, steamship and express freight will be made, transportation companies to collect the tax for the government and receive as compensation 1 per cent of the amount of revenue collected from the tax.

To Prune Other Bills.

As an additional relief for war conditions, senate leaders announced today the intention to prune the rivers and harbors appropriation bill from $53,000,000 to approximately $30,000,000. An effort will be made to include in this cut some of the new projects, assailed as extravagant by opposing senators, thus ending the Republican filibuster against the bill. Democratic leaders are conferring with the Republicans on the readjustment of the bill.

The war revenue bill will be introduced in the house tomorrow and debate started early next week. Commenting on the bill, Representative Underwood tonight said:

Immediate Relief Needed.

"The need for writing a tax bill at once was to relieve the government of the necessity of withdrawing funds from the banks. Realizing the financial situation in the country, the president thought it advisable not to disturb the public funds at this time and to pass a bill immediately that ultimately must have been passed by reason of the falling off in the customs revenues because of war in Europe.

"It must be apparent to all that if congress had determined to take this action immediately to relieve the situation in the banks, it would not write a revenue bill that would cause a large amount of withdrawals of deposits from the financial centers of the country."

M'DERMOTT WINS FIGHT FOR RENOMINATION TO CONGRESS IN ILLINOIS

CHICAGO, Sept. 10.—Complete returns late tonight show that former Congressman James T. McDermott won his fight for the Democratic nomination for congress in the Fourth district, which embraces the stock yards. McDermott recently resigned from the house in the face of an unfavorable report on an investigating committee. He called his campaign for renomination a "vindication campaign."

Mr. McDermott received 2,822 votes, defeating William G. Furlong with 2,484.

Congressman A. J. Sabath won the Democratic nomination in the Fifth district by a narrow margin. Congressman James McAndrews in the Sixth district and Congressman Frank Buchanan in the Seventh district were renominated by the Democrats by large pluralities.

CLIMATE BLAMED FOR LOW WAGES IN LOS ANGELES

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Sept. 10.—The even climate of Los Angeles is responsible for low wages in many crafts here, C. R. Gore, business agent of the carpenters' district council, testified today before the federal industrial relations commission.

"Men can work here about 10 months out of the year, while in cities like Chicago and St. Louis, they cannot work more than seven months in crafts like mine," he said. "Hence wages are lower."

"Do you think God made the climate for the benefit of the employer only?" Commissioner Garretson asked.

"I hardly would subscribe to that theory," the witness replied.

Mr. Gore's testimony was to the effect that union carpenters here get $4 a day, while they make more money in other cities, notably San Francisco, where $5 is the scale. Unorganized carpenters here do not always make $4, but more frequently $2.25 to $4, Gore said.

The witness also said that employes were lured here from the east with word pictures of gold and sunshine.

"When I reached here they separated me from the gold and I had more sunshine than I needed," he remarked.

FRENCH MEDICAL OFFICERS ON WAY TO ENGLAND

ROTTERDAM, Sept. 10.—It is reported from Maestricht, Holland, that on Wednesday eight French medical officers passed through the city on the way to England. They had been in charge of a convoy of French wounded which were taken near Namur and held as prisoners of war.

The medical officers were given permission to depart for England by way of Rotterdam. From England they will return to France.

HABEAS CORPUS WRITS ARE DENIED AT BUTTE

Judge Refuses Petitions of Miners Held by the Montana National Guard

BUTTE, Mont., Sept. 10.—District Judge M. Donlan refused to grant writs of habeas corpus late today on behalf of the 10 prisoners held by the Montana National guard and their attorney served notice that he would appeal to the state supreme court.

Earlier in the day Federal Judge Bourquin dismissed the habeas corpus proceedings in behalf of the prisoners, holding that no ground had been presented for interference by the United States district court.

Charges were filed against Sheriff Driscoll by County Attorney McCaffery, the complaint being filed by James H. Rowe, Louis Dreibelous and W. M. Twohy, representing a committee of citizens. The accusations allege general neglect of duty, dating from June 13, when the first of the miners riots began. The accusations practically are the same as those made in the recent ouster proceedings against Mayor Lewis J. Duncan.

The first real business session of the military court was held today when accusations were presented against Edward Evans, D. W. Malone, Owen Smith and Edward Ross, mine workers rounded up by the troops in connection with the miner's troubles. They are charged with carrying concealed weapons.

Throughout the world there are mailed daily 110,000,000,000 letters and cards.

SAGE TEA DANDY TO DARKEN HAIR

GRANDMOTHER'S RECIPE TO BRING BACK COLOR AND LUSTRE TO HAIR

You can turn gray, faded hair beautifully dark and lustrous almost over night if you'll get a 50-cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" at any drug store. Millions of bottles of this old, famous Sage Tea recipe are sold annually, says a well-known druggist here, because it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that no one can tell it has been applied.

Those whose hair is turning gray, becoming faded, dry, scraggly and thin have a surprise awaiting them, because after one or two applications the gray hair vanishes and your locks become luxuriantly dark and beautiful—all dandruff goes, scalp itching and falling hair stops.

This is the age of youth. Gray-haired, unattractive folks aren't wanted around, so get busy with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur tonight and you'll be delighted with your dark, handsome hair and your youthful appearance within a few days. Adv.

REPUBLICANS TO MEET TOMORROW AFTERNOON

Republican committeemen and committeewomen and candidates nominated at the primaries last Tuesday will meet at the courthouse tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock. The principal business of the meeting will be the election of a county chairman, a chairwoman, and secretary of the central committee, D. F. Law having resigned.

People in Tibet value highly the spectacles of smoked or colored glasses that are sold to them by the Chinese because of the blinding brightness of the sun on the snow.

It Is Just Natural To Admire Babies

Our altruistic nature impels love for the cooing infant. And at the same time the subject of motherhood is ever before us. To know what to do that will add to the physical comfort of expectant motherhood is a subject that has interested most women of all times. One of the real helpful things is an external abdominal application sold in most drug stores under the name of "Mother's Friend." We have known so many grandmothers, who in their younger days relied upon this remedy, and who recommend it to their own daughters that it certainly must be what its name indicates. They have used it for its direct influence upon the muscles, cords, ligaments and tendons as it aims to afford relief from the strain and pain so often unnecessarily severe during the period of expectancy.

A little book mailed by Bradfield Regulator Co., 305 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., refers to many things that women like to read about. It refers not only to the relief from muscular strain due to their expansion but also to nausea, morning sickness, caking of breasts and many other distresses.

$50,000 IN POSTAL SAVINGS BANK HERE

Thirteen Hundred Depositors Trust Uncle Sam With Their Savings

With more than $50,000 on deposit and more than 1,300 accounts, the Postal Savings bank department of the postoffice is in a flourishing condition and this month has the largest sum on deposit since it has been in operation, according to the authorities in charge. August was an especially busy month and deposits have increased materially during the summer.

"The deposits would have reached $100,000 some time ago, if it was not for the $500 limit imposed by the department," said an official yesterday. "We have had several people in with sums amounting to several thousand dollars and yesterday a man came in with $7,000 that he wanted to leave with us."

One hundred dollars is the largest amount the bank will accept in any one month and not more than $500 can be credited to any one account.

All Nationalities Represented.

People of all nationalities are represented among the depositors and yesterday a Mexican opened an account, being the first one of his race to do so in this city. Japanese are unusually good savers, according to the department, and invest nearly all their earnings. School children make up another class of depositors. When they reach 10 years of age, they are allowed to open accounts with Uncle Sam, and save up their pennies until they have a dollar, the smallest amount required to open an account. Widows with insurance are often depositors.

After the $500 limit is reached the account is closed but government bonds are available, and in that way savings may be invested.

"When some of our depositors manage to get together $100," said an official yesterday, "they seldom think of more, for that amount often seems a fortune to them. We have small deposits and the working classes are the ones we deal with for the most part."

BLUE-BIRD GIRLS WILL DISTRIBUTE BOOKS AND MAGAZINES AMONG POOR

New Association Formed to Work for Sick and Friendless; Associated Charities Also Interested

An association for the collection of old magazines, papers, books and periodicals of all kinds to be distributed to the sick and poor has been organized by the Associated Charities. It is the first organization of its kind to be formed in Colorado Springs. The members of the Campfire of the Blue Bird have agreed to carry on the work of distribution and the Associated Charities will gather the publications.

While the details for the campaign have not been worked out, the association will begin a campaign among the business people of the city at once. Donations will be welcomed by the association, and it is planned to have a complete organization worked out within the next few days.

Distribution lists will be secured from the Visiting Nurse association, county officials and [illegible] and the society believe that good work can be done in this way.

"There never has been an institution here for the distribution of magazines and books to the sick and poor," said W. F. Worcester, agent for the Associated Charities, yesterday, "and we hope to have many contributions of papers and periodicals."

Popular and illustrated magazines are the favorites, according to the association, and good short story books are welcomed with enthusiasm at the hospitals.

'Girl in the Case' Has Disappeared; May Be Returned

Judge Sheafor of the district court announced yesterday morning that a rigid investigation would be made to fix, if possible, the responsibility for the absence from the state of the principal witness in the case of Walter Lassert, charged with a statutory offense, who is on trial in the district court. The girl in the case left Colorado Springs several days ago for Iowa.

Assistant District Attorney M. M. Burns asked the court for an order committing the mother, Mrs. E. J. Brown, formerly the wife of Richard Lass, to the county jail for contempt of court and also that a process issue compelling her to bring her daughter within the jurisdiction of the court. Judge Sheafor ordered the process but announced that he would examine the witness further before adjudging her in contempt. In regard to the girl's absence from the state, Judge Sheafor said:

"It has happened frequently of late in cases of this kind that the girl in the case has disappeared by the time the case is brought to trial. This court wants to know the answer and it is going to do everything in its power to stop this practice."

Birdman Has No Fear of Dangers Overhead

Cooke Will Fly Tuesday, Sunshine or Storm

WELDON COOKE, WHO MAKES FLIGHT NEXT WEEK

"Swiss cheese atmosphere," "air pockets," "vortexes," "down treads," or other of the alibis of the timid, incompetent or inexperienced aviators are not feared by Weldon Cooke, who promises to fly in his aeroplane from Colorado Springs next Tuesday. Cooke, in a letter received in this city yesterday, announces that he will make the flight, rain, shine or cyclone. His master motor, he says, will send him through any kind of air, faster than any wind that blows. So powerful is his machine that he can start and land in a two-mile altitude with ease.

Mr. Cooke will arrive here Sunday and his machine will be on exhibition Monday.

"A man who can fly well enough to receive pay for exhibitions should be able to fly in any kind of weather, even if a cyclone is blowing," says Cooke. "There is just as much difference between straight flying and fancy flying as there is between ordinary bicycle riding and the fancy riding act one sees on the vaudeville stage. But a lot of aviators are going around the country buncoing the public into believing that they can really fly, and so aviation gets a black eye."

Cooke says that one reason why members of congress refuse to vote for an appropriation for an adequate aerial army and navy is because they do not know what man can really do with an aeroplane. He is planning to go to Washington in the near future to give United States lawmakers an exhibition in flying.

A baseball game will be staged at 10 o'clock after the speeches, and later a picnic lunch will be served. In the afternoon races of all kinds will be held. It will be a regular old-fashioned country fair with stock and dairy exhibits, horse races and a dance.

DR. GALE TO LECTURE AT FIRST M. E. CHURCH

Dr. Allie Spencer Gale will lecture next Sunday morning at the First M. E. church on the work of Miss Gertrude Howe and Dr. Ida Kahn, the latter a Chinese woman whose name has been suggested to represent China among the distinguished women of the world and at the Panama-Pacific exposition next year. Dr. Gale also will tell of her work in the Yangste river valley in China, where she, with Dr. Kahn, conducts a hospital.

IF KIDNEYS ACT BAD TAKE SALTS

SAYS BACKACHE IS SIGN YOU HAVE BEEN EATING TOO MUCH MEAT

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it generally means you have been eating too much meat, says a well-known authority. Meat forms the uric acid which overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and loggy. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels; removing all the body's urinous waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells; your stomach sours, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water scalds and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

'SPRINGS' DAY THURSDAY AT PUEBLO STATE FAIR

Local Delegation to Make Run to Smelter City by Auto; All Motorists Invited

A big local delegation is planning to attend the state fair at Pueblo next week, and the Chamber of Commerce is making preparations for an automobile excursion composed of Colorado Springs, Colorado City and Manitou cars, to insure a big representation.

Thursday will be "Colorado Springs day" and tourists and visitors who are planning a trip to the state fair in their machines, will be invited to join the local delegation Thursday morning. Preparations for the Colorado Springs tour are being made by the trade and industries and tourist travel committees in cooperation with the all-Colorado committee.

Local cars will be requested to display Colorado Springs pennants and Manitou and Colorado City autos will carry their own colors.

The automobiles will leave the Burns building Thursday morning at 9 o'clock and the schedule will be arranged with a view to comfort rather than speed. Chairman W. E. McClung will act as pacemaker and at the city limits of Pueblo the cars will line up for the procession.

Escort cars from Pueblo will meet the excursion at the outskirts of the town and will pilot the tourists through the city to the fair grounds.

A general invitation is extended to all local motorists to join the Colorado Springs delegation, and the committee will be glad to get in touch with all those desiring to go. The committee in charge is composed of W. E. McClung, Edward W. Kent, L. A. Puffer, Dr. P. O. Hanford and A. Taylor Thompson.

MRS. TALBOT DESCRIBES CONDITIONS IN MEXICO

Lecturer for New York Board of Education Says Republic Is Ready for Political Evolution

The lecture rooms in the Chamber of Commerce were filled with an enthusiastic audience last night to hear an illustrated talk on "The Mexico of Yesterday and Today," by Mrs. Ada Brown Talbot, official lecturer for the board of education in New York city. Mrs. Talbot was introduced by Mayor McKesson and prefaced her lecture with several complimentary remarks about Colorado Springs.

"I have an unbounded admiration for your town," she said. "It is the jewel of all Colorado."

Mexican music should be included in every lecture on the country beyond the Rio Grande, according to Mrs. Talbot, and she delighted music lovers in the audience by playing several selections on the piano. "Viva Mexico," a march composed by Mrs. Talbot from a bugle call that she heard daily when ill in Mexico City, was received with great applause. "There are 2,000 bands in Mexico," she said, "and they are all good and play wonderful waltzes and tangoes. I wish I had the time to play some for you."

People Eager to Learn.

Mrs. Talbot has spent many years in Mexico and delighted her audience with the colored slides of many of the important ports and agricultural views of the country.

"Mexico is the treasure house of the world," she said. "Precious metals, jewels, food products and above all woodlands are plentiful. The American invasion has counted for much, and the people are imbued with new ideas, and new ideals of a democracy. They are beginning to learn and are athirst for knowledge. The working classes read on their way to work; they want to learn about the future of their country."

The rejuvenation of Mexico is coming from the lower classes, Mrs. Talbot said. The upper classes are educated but they have not the right ideas and ideals. The lower classes are beginning to learn and in the right way.

Political Evolution Needed.

"The Mexican problem is a great one," said Mrs. Talbot, "and the people must go through a great political evolution. Knowledge is the great factor today, and when they have gained it they will be able to utilize the great possibilities that await them."

In speaking of the war Mrs. Talbot said that Carranza was the man of the hour and that everybody was asking about him. "He was the only one of the big men to openly defy Huerta," she said, "and with Villa's aid drove him from the country. For many years he was governor of one of the three great states, and yet no one knowing what the future would bring forth."

Mrs. Talbot is the wife of E. N. Talbot, founder and editor of the Railway Age Gazette of New York city, who visited here last week during the land sale and made a trip through El Paso county to gather data for articles on the region.

SALE OF STATE LANDS AT LIMON DRAWS BIG CROWD

More Than 8,000 Acres Sold Under Hammer; Prices Range From $5 to $25 per Acre

Several thousand people attended the sale of state lands in Elbert and Lincoln counties at Limon yesterday and 53 tracts comprising 8,240 acres were sold within two hours at public auction, according to a telegram to The Gazette last night from Prof. H. M. Cottrell, agricultural commissioner for the Rock Island railroad, who was in charge of the local office during the sale here last week.

Nearly 1,000 people went to Limon by train and double that number arrived by auto from Kansas, Oklahoma and eastern Colorado. The town was full of prairie schooners and an enthusiastic crowd of prospective settlers attended the sale.

The auction was adjourned after two hours bidding and only a part of the lands in Elbert county had been offered for sale. The session will be continued this morning, when the remaining Elbert county lands, and also those in Lincoln county will be offered for sale. It was estimated that there were at least 300 people at Limon who wished to bid on unsold tracts after the sale yesterday. The bids ranged from $5 to $25 an acre.

Interest in the sale was keen. In connection with the auction there has been a large exhibit of products from the San Luis and Arkansas valleys, and Elbert and Lincoln counties. People are arriving from all parts of the country almost hourly, and a trail of automobiles and covered wagons filed into Limon during the greater part of the day.

News of the Courts

A divorce was granted in the county court yesterday in the case of Gertrude A. Stevenson against Edward Alexander Stevenson, on the grounds of desertion.

A jury in the district court yesterday was directed by Judge John E. Little to return a verdict in favor of the defendant in the case of A. C. Adams against Grant White, a money demand suit.

Sheriff George Birdsall returned to Colorado Springs from Denver yesterday afternoon with Mrs. Stella Ruberson, charged with child abandonment. Mrs. Ruberson was arrested yesterday morning by the Denver police on a warrant description sent out by the local sheriff's [illegible]

ANOTHER PORK BARREL

CUSTOMS revenues for August show a falling off of $10,630,000 as compared with August last year. On this basis President Wilson estimates the total loss of revenue from this source at $100,000,000 yearly, and asks Congress to pass a law levying special taxes to make good the deficit.

Meanwhile Congress is hastily pushing to final passage the rivers and harbors appropriation bill, the annual "pork barrel" measure. It is the biggest and juiciest piece of pork ever served up for the benefit of hungry Congressmen, and there is no reason to believe that it will be beaten, or that the President will even exert his influence against it. The bill carries an appropriation of $93,000,000, or about $1 for every man, woman and child in the United States. Of this sum $53,000,000 is in cash appropriations for projects already authorized, and $40,000,000 for new projects. In addition there is an unexpended balance of $52,000,000 in the Treasury available for works already authorized, making a total fund of $145,000,000 to be spent ostensibly for the improvement of rivers and harbors.

In fact, though, most of this money will be spent dredging insignificant creeks which never were, and never can be made, navigable. There is no intention of making them navigable. The real purpose of a pork barrel is not to secure actual improvements, but merely to spend public money in each district so that the congressman, when he bobs up for reelection, can go before his constituents and point with pride to the large sums secured for them.

This outrageous piece of graft, together with the related pork barrel, the public buildings bill, cost the people of the United States about $125,000,000 a year. It is safe to say that not 20 per cent of the money is spent honestly and efficiently, yet in Congress everybody is for it. Opposition to the steal is useless, for, while few members dare oppose it openly, the big majority adopt it by a viva voce vote, the record of which cannot be examined.

* * * * *

Examination of the bill shows some interesting details. For instance, Shoal creek, in New Jersey, is to be "improved" at a cost of $56,800, and the sole beneficiary is a fertilizer plant. Mispillon creek, in Delaware, is to receive $35,200 for the benefit of another fertilizer plant. Government engineers have condemned the proposal to improve the Harbor of Refuge in Carolina, but it is to receive $300,000. Senator Burton, probably the best informed authority on the subject, says there is not enough traffic on the Tennessee river to load half a train of cars, yet the bill appropriates $930,000 for improving it. With regard to the $2,000,000 provided for the Missouri river between Kansas City and St. Louis, government engineers have reported that spending this money would be equivalent to paying $154 a ton for all the freight carried on the river in a year.

If it is really necessary for the Government to find the money to make good a deficit of $100,000,000 a year it could not do better than eliminate the pork barrel instead of resorting to the levy of special taxes. President Wilson has repeatedly shown his complete control of Congress, and it is safe to say that he could control its action in this matter. The fact that he urges increased taxation and makes no effort to prevent the rivers and harbors graft at least suggests doubts as to his sincerity.

GORE VS. GLORY

A LARGE proportion of the literature of the world is made up of panegyrics of war. From the Homeric epoch down to the present, poets and prose writers have extolled the "glories" of organized slaughter, and it must be admitted that until quite recently they "got away with it." We are easily thrilled, especially in childhood when youngsters recite "The Charge of the Light Brigade," "Paul Revere's Ride," and like poems with patriotic fervor. But it is noteworthy that those who have the most intimate first-hand acquaintance with war are the least enthusiastic over its glories. General Sherman, who certainly could not be accused of supersensitiveness, defined it as "hell." And this epitomizes the opinion of it expressed by most really great commanders.

True, the horrors of war cannot be fully realized unless seen and experienced, but with the aid of the camera and the vivid descriptions of descriptive writers we can gain an idea sufficiently clear to satisfy curiosity. And in this humanitarian age one must indeed have a strong stomach to find anything "glorious" in the events now taking place in Europe. However impressive or thrilling may be the description of the defense of a fortified position against superior numbers, such as was repeatedly made by the Belgians, or of the splendid courage and pertinacity displayed by the German invaders, the dominant emotion aroused in the mind of the clear-thinking reader is invariably horror. The thought of countless lives wasted, snuffed out like candles, utterly destroyed as a part of the business of wanton killing, inspires no elevating thought. It merely sickens. The chicanery of the rulers and statesmen, who for selfish ends caused this war and plunged a whole continent into ruin, cannot by any flight of rhetoric be made to appear anything but sordid.

War has been stripped of its pomp and circumstance, of its glory and its glamour. Martial music still thrills, but it is quite as thrilling in a peaceful parade as when it accompanies the tread of soldiers marching to battle. We realize now that "peace hath her victories, no less renowned than war"—yes, a thousand times greater than those of war, and we can view the business of organized slaughter dispassionately as an actual, though temporary, reversion to barbarism. But the question is, when will our civilization reach a plane so high that we will not make this fatal plunge at the behest of ambitious rulers?

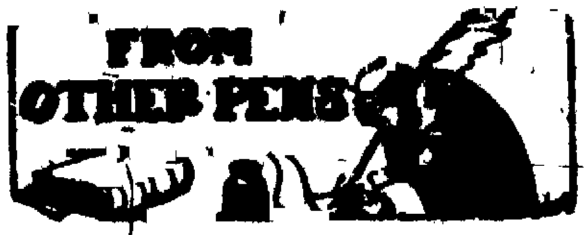
LOUVAIN

EUROPEAN dispatches last Saturday told of the publication by the Norddeutsche Allgemeine Zeitung of an "official statement" relative to the sack of Louvain by German troops. The statement is a defense of the German course, which it justifies on the ground of Belgian attacks on the invaders.

Last Wednesday President Wilson received from the German emperor a cablegram, part of which was an expression of the emperor's "deep regret at the destruction of the Belgian city of Louvain." The Associated Press report adds:

> "My heart bleeds for Louvain," is one of the phrases which the emperor is understood to have used. He declared, however, that the population of Belgium had offered such resistance that his generals in many cases found it necessary to administer severe punishment.

The sack of Louvain was an outburst of medieval savagery which seems strangely out of place in the Twentieth century. If the Russians had done such a thing we would now be hearing a tremendous outburst against "Slav barbarism" from the ardent German sympathizers. Priceless art treasures, centuries old, a famous library whose fame dates from the Middle Ages, and other buildings which cannot be replaced, were wantonly destroyed because, forsooth, a few of the inhabitants fired on the German troops! But the emperor's "heart bleeds for Louvain" so it's all right.



CROSSES FOR THE KINGS.

From the Chicago Tribune

When the Emperor Francis Joseph sent a cross to the kaiser in recognition of his valor and triumphant deeds, it was recognized that war has its pleasant moments, and when the kaiser sent Francis Joseph a cross which the old man might have given him with his gruel, the amenities were complete.

One thinks of a decoration as something won by supreme human endurance in the hour of greatest attack upon human nerves and emotions, something which a man might have come out of the wreck of enterprise or the success of a forlorn hope deserving. That thought is coupled with wonder as to what trenches Francis Joseph and the kaiser have rushed, what batteries they have faced, what periods of starvation they have suffered, and what wounds they have endured.

This is where a democracy reveals its ignorance of monarchical institutions. When kings decorate each other they decorate each other's nations. Germany is triumphant. Francis Joseph decorates the kaiser. And the other way around—although we lack confirmed evidence that Austria-Hungary is tramping down its enemies by the thousands.

A UNITED GERMANY.

From the Kansas City Star.

Whatever distinction may be made between the military party in Germany and the Germany of science and trade and philosophy, this fact should be borne in mind: The German people are absolutely united in prosecuting this war.

There cannot be the slightest question as to this condition. The Socialists are constitutionally opposed to war. But one leader of the Socialist party in the reichstag, Dr. Karl Liebknecht, is fighting at the front. Another leader of the same party, Hugo Haase, has been in Italy trying to get Italian help for Germany. The German potash syndicate has just issued an address to "business friends" in the United States, asserting that "Germany rose like one man." A statement from German business men sent from Berlin says, "No difference prevails in Germany any longer."

An incident that has come privately to the knowledge of this newspaper may be cited to the same effect. Rudolf Eucken of the University of Jena is one of the greatest of modern idealistic philosophers. An American delegate to the peace congress that was assembling at Lake Constance just as war broke out spent a day at the Eucken home. Two sons of the philosopher had just received orders to go to the front, and the family was arranging for the wife and child of the elder son to stay at the father's house. Professor Eucken took the normal German attitude. He believed the war with the Slavs was inevitable and that it might as well come now, and he had absolute confidence in the success of German arms.

His feeling is the feeling throughout the empire. It is well established that there is no opposition in Germany either to the war or to the German emperor.

THAT QUEER BRITISH EMPIRE.

From the Chicago Herald.

"A wonderful wave of enthusiasm and loyalty is passing over India," said the Marquis of Crewe, secretary of state for India, in parliament Friday.

"Native Indian troops will be employed in the war in Europe," is, in substance, the declaration made by Earl Kitchener, war minister.

Indian troops anxious to fight in the war for Great Britain!

Irishmen, Ulsterites and nationalists, ready to help the empire!

Australia prohibiting the export of food anywhere except to the mother country!

Canada preparing to send a strong contingent!

The same story in England, Scotland, Ireland, and all the dominions and colonies!

What a queer, queer thing the British empire is when you come to think of it!

In ordinary times you would naturally judge from the way Ireland and the dominions and colonies talk about Great Britain that the poor old country didn't have a friend on earth.

In ordinary times some part of the British empire is always berating the home government.

In times of peace everybody feels at liberty to assume a possible revolution in India, separation of the dominions, and all sorts of other disastrous things.

In times of peace the empire is always more or less "doomed," according to the statements of many gloom-laden British subjects.

But in time of war how suddenly things look up in that queer, queer British empire!

"I haven't a thing to take back," says Ireland, "but, under the circumstances kindly show me the enemy as soon as possible. I want to get at him."

"Yours of recent date received," says Canada. "Am sending men as fast as they can be gotten ready and transportation secured."

"Reserving for a more auspicious time any hatred a part of our population justifiably bears to England," says South Africa, "we are prepared to do our utmost in the present war."

"Serious local dissatisfaction will arise, sahib, unless Indians are permitted to give their lives for the honorable empire, now that it is at war with a foreign nation," says India.

It's everywhere the same story. In peace it's "Confound your stupid, unreasonable, fat-headed, doomed, arrogant soul!" In time of need it's "Count on us to the limit."

Which is why we say that the British empire is a queer, queer institution!

Do You Think?

BY RUTH CAMERON

"To have a catchword in your mouth is not the same thing as to hold an opinion, still less is it the same thing as to have made one for yourself."

It is the power of thought, of "forming an opinion by reasoning" that sets man apart from the rest of the animal kingdom. It would seem, therefore, that the habit of thought would be common among mankind. But is it?

In Columbus' time a few so-called learned men held to the belief that the world was flat. To say that the great mass of people also thought so would be stretching a point, for to think one must "employ any of the intellectual powers except that of simple perception through the senses." In brief, to think one must exercise the higher intellectual faculties. In Columbus' time the people believed what was told them, they did not think.

Columbus thought. Told that the earth was flat, he actually thought about it. He did not say to himself, "These very learned men say the world is flat, so it must be." Instead he said, "These men think the world is flat, do I think so?" And finally having really thought the matter over he came to the conclusion that the world was round.

It was neither his skill in seamanship nor his venturesomeness that made Columbus a great man. It was his power to subject a common belief to analysis, to think for himself and not let others think for him.

The same thing is true of any other great man. The man who thinks for himself is as far above the man who doesn't—the man who accepts his thoughts ready-made—as the man is above animal.

The habit of thought, like most good habits, is hard to acquire. It means subjecting everything that comes your way to your own powers of reasoning. It means cultivating an open mind. It means refusing to accept your thoughts ready-made, no matter who the maker may be.

The reason there are so few great thinkers is there are so many who permit the great thinkers to do their thinking for them.

Try this. The next time you tackle any subject and start to say "I think so-and-so," stop and say to yourself, "Have I thought? Is this my own, carefully pondered belief or is it somebody else's thought on the subject that I've picked up and adapted to my own uses which I'm about to enunciate?"

You will find that saying "I think" is one of the commonest forms of self-deception. What we should more often say is, "So-and-so has said such-and-such a thing and I'm passing it along as my own simply because I have never thought anything really worth saying about the subject."

COLLEGE EDUCATION

There is a widespread belief that the only way to acquire wisdom is to climb aboard a college and ride four years. This is a great mistake. The college system attains great speed between termini and transports the passengers from a state of heathen darkness regarding Latin, political economy and clothes to a state of erudition in great comfort. But the walking is also good.

The journey takes considerably longer when performed on foot, but large numbers of citizens have hoofed the distance with great success. Abraham Lincoln did not get near enough to a college in his youth to apply for the janitorship thereof, yet at the age of 23 he was a lawyer and legislator and was extending kindly assistance to struggling young possessors of college degrees.

OH, SAY, WHERE'S THE BUFFET
HAD TO TAKE AN EXAM
Gallup

"A parlor car route to knowledge."

However it is a great advantage to attend college and to travel through the wilderness of accumulated wisdom with able conductors and courteous attendants. It enables a young man to acquire in four years what would otherwise take him from 10 years to a lifetime to obtain, and in these modern days it is also good for father because it keeps him using last year's automobile, which is good enough for anyone. A college education is a fine thing for a young man who desires to become a lawyer, minister, statesman, author, doctor, scholar, philanthropist, great baseball player or a general all-round good citizen. However, a great many college educations are entirely wasted. The young man who proposes to become a modern high-pressure business man does not need education. What he mostly needs is a course under some good missionary. This will not help him become a millionaire, but it may prevent him from doing so by borrowing some other man's railroad and forgetting to return it.

Correspondent Gives Vivid Description of the Battle of Meaux

LONDON, Sept. 10.—The Paris correspondent of the Daily Mail gives a description of the battle of Meaux on the Marne 27 miles northeast of Paris of which he was an eyewitness. He says:

"I came upon the battle at Meaux with astonishing suddenness. My motor car had just shot up the rise that overhangs the little town and there it was before our eyes in the valley, dense white balloon smoke from exploding shells, little coveys of shrapnel bursting in air, showers of black earth ripped out of solid ground, farm houses and haystacks flaming and a German aeroplane cruising overhead.

"German shells are falling in the fields just beyond Meaux but strain our eyes as we may, even through strong glasses we can nowhere find French batteries replying. Every now and then the French infantry may be seen moving in the trenches.

"Descending to the town we find a pitiable sight with houses wrecked, the bridge blown into a shapeless mass of ruins, aeroplanes overhead and shells still bursting beyond the town.

"The streets are like a city of the dead. Only when the chasseurs come clattering through the streets are shutters cautiously opened and the inhabitants peep out. Through these openings it is curious to see women darning socks as though nothing was happening.

"I tried to get into the fields but was warned back by an old man. The bombardment still continued as I left Meaux."

News of Destruction of Belgian Town Was Exaggerated, Says Berlin

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—The German embassy today received the following wireless from Berlin:

"Herr Helfferich, director of the Deutsche bank, after touring in Belgium, states:

"'News of the destruction of Belgian towns is exaggerated. Verviers and Tirlemont, industrial centers, and Charleroi, quite intact. Louvain and Dinant only partly destroyed.'"

"After the surrender of Ghent a German officer was insidiously killed and another wounded. The Russian cavalry burned from sheer lust of destruction, although there was no fighting in that district, the splendid castle of Count Mirbach, the Prussian parliamentarian."

KAISER IS DETERMINED TO BESEIGE PARIS

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—Straight from a long talk with the German emperor in Berlin, H. von Eckhart, the new German minister to Mexico, asserted today that the emperor had no thought of abandoning his plan to besiege Paris, that a German army would take the city and that all France would be subjugated by the German arms, "not to keep it always, but to destroy forever the menace of French militarism."

WALKING DOWN THE STREET SERIES NO. 4

As I passed the office of an afternoon paper at 10 o'clock yesterday morning the street was jammed with men and boys. Presently the newsboys rolled out of the door and the mad scramble for papers was on. Almost immediately thereafter the boys and men were in wild flight, racing for the jobs of which they had just read.

It was the scramble for work of a horde of men and boys, many of whom had crowded into the city or, living in the city, had been crowded out of work by untrained labor which had crowded into the city.

The lodging house population has a high death rate especially so when we remember that the denizens are able bodied men in the prime of life. The principal cause of death among them is pneumonia. By January pneumonia is slaying them right and left. The indications are that the lodging house population of the cities this winter will be great beyond all previous figures.

There are several gauges by which the casual labor situation can be estimated. These gauges show that the situation is as bad now as it usually is in January. I am writing to warn the unattached men to keep out of the cities this winter. The amount of drifting labor in the United States is without parallel in any country in the world.

The cause of this has been studied many times. The essence of the cause is this: In the United States it is fairly safe for a man to cut loose from home base. Somehow or other he can manage to get food and clothing if he has any ability at taking care of himself.

Knowing this the boys on the farms and in towns where there are but few opportunities are willing to gamble on going into the cities in search of opportunity. They feel certain of a living and every now and then some boy who started in a lodging house ends as a railroad president or something else.

When this ceases to be a land where it is safe to fare forth to gamble on opportunity, we shall cease to have a lodging house problem.

Times will be hard in the cities this winter. There will be less than the usual amount of work for the untrained laborer. The cost of living will be high. The free lunch will have less meat and bread in it. The philanthropic organizations will be less well equipped with funds.

Some of the lodging house people are due to starve this winter. The picking will be the slimmest since the war of 1861. The sickness rate is always high when food is scarce.

The boy who has a job on the farm or in a country town had better stick. He may not think it a very good job or that it has any possibilities, but if he throws it up and gets into the city he is certain to go hungry and he may starve or die of pneumonia.

ASPIRIN AND RHEUMATISM.

C. writes: "Is there danger in the taking of aspirin? I am troubled with what is termed rheumatism, and this has been recommended for relief."

REPLY.

I do not think one is justified in taking more than two doses a day or taking that much for more than two or three days without counsel.

The principal reasons for this opinion are two. First, it is always poor judgment to take medicines for relief indiscriminately—and that is the action of aspirin; second, behind rheumatism, so-called, there is a cause and the sensible method is to accept the pain as an indicator and to go after the cause, first to find it and then to relieve it.

FOODS THAT FATTEN.

D. M. writes: "Please let me know if a child 2 years old and 2 feet 7 inches in height and weighing [illegible] pounds is under weight. She was a seven-pound baby and did well while being nursed, but after that did not pick up weight as well. Is there, [illegible] can recommend that will fatten as well as nourish?"

REPLY.

Your child is smaller and lighter than the average child at 2½ years. This may be a matter of inheritance. Give her plenty of food and keep her in the open air and you will have done all that you can do.

Starches and sugars are fattening as well as nourishing. Among the starches and sugars are cereals, bread, potatoes, molasses, sugar and candy. Feed a fair amount of meat once a day.

TREATMENT FOR PALPITATION.

G. K. M. would like to know if there is a treatment for palpitation of the heart.

REPLY.

Yes. First find the cause. It may be the use of tobacco. If so stop it. It may be overeating or indigestion. It may be an overstrained or fatigued heart muscle. It may be worry, or tire, or nervousness. It may be psychic. In a word, it is not possible to generalize to advantage.

The man with palpitation should be studied carefully and the treatment should be directed to the cause which in his case is responsible for the symptom—palpitation.

THERE IS NO DANGER.

B. T. R. writes: "Is it true that acids and starches are unwholesome when eaten together, as, for instance, apples eaten with bread or breakfast foods? What is the danger, if any?"

REPLY.

There is none.

FRANCE DENIES ALLIES USE DUMDUM BULLETS

BORDEAUX, France, Sept. 10.—The French foreign office today issued a note protesting strongly against the statements given to the American press by the German government accusing the allies of using dumdum bullets.

"It is to be feared that these charges," the note says, "are but a pretext for the use of dumdum bullets by the German troops, as well as to cause a reaction of American opinion in favor of the German army. The German government is carrying on a similar campaign in Copenhagen."

WEALTHY CATTLEMAN HELD ON WHITE SLAVERY CHARGE

DEMING, N. M., Sept. 10.—E. F. Keene, 85, a wealthy cattleman, today was held at Silver City for the United States grand jury on a charge of violating the Mann white slavery act. The complaining witness was Dora Jenkins, 18, a clerk in the United States pension office at Washington.

SON OF DEPOSED SULTAN TO BE ALBANIAN RULER

ROME, Sept. 10.—Prince Mohammed Burhan-Eddin Effendi, the fourth and favorite son of Abdul Hamid, Turkey's deposed sultan, is to be proclaimed prince of Albania under the sovereignty of Turkey, according to the Giornale D'Italia.

This violation of the decision of the conference of London says this newspaper may induce Italy to intervene. Ships and troops, it says, are kept in readiness for any eventuality.

HARTFORD, Conn., Sept. 10.—Tommy Murphy made a clean sweep of the four events carded for the final day of the Grand Circuit meeting at Charter Oak park this afternoon, taking the trotting division of the Matron stake with Peter Volo, the pacing division of the same stake with Anna Bradford, winning the 2:24 trot with Barbara Overton and the free-for-all pace with Frank Bogash, Jr. All the races went in straight heats and the favorites ran true to form.

Balch, Tiger Quarter, Forced to Quit Squad

Harry Balch, candidate for quarterback for the Tigers this year and a member of last year's team, probably will return to his home in Greeley this morning, having received a telegram yesterday stating that his mother is seriously ill. Balch and "Shorty" Ross look like the best bets for the pivot position this year. Balch probably will be back next week.

ALONG THE SPORTSMAN'S BEAT

"GROSSE SCHWEIGER," a term applied to Count Von Moltke, the German fighting machine's brains, might be applied to the Colorado college Teuton star. If Schweiger shows as much fight as his namesake, then—look out, Boulder!

NOT A BEAR yarn yet!

TIME TO GET busy and sprain something.

NEWS OF the School of Mines' mobilization of players seems to have been censored. But generally we find our Golden friends fairly well prepared when the Tiger game comes. To wit— last fall.

THE MINNESOTA shift has been renamed the German flank movement. Both have proved highly successful.

AND YET no Zeppelin has dropped a bomb on McGraw, the Boulder pitcher. Twenty-two Tigers whiffed!

MERCY, NO, it is not within the bounds of etiquette to cheer for your college while eating or after eating in the commons dining room at the college. While a cheer is being started, some poor freshman might be gnawing a chicken wing and might accidentally snuff it into his lungs in an effort to outyell his neighbor.

By STONEY M'LINN—

BILL CARRIGAN, the Red Sox manager, predicts that the Athletics will win the pennant. He also may be induced to venture the opinion that Christmas this year will fall on Friday, December 25.

OUTFIELDER FALSEY, Yale's star last spring, may play with one of the ball teams James E. Sullivan will take to the Olympic games. A couple of months with the Pittsburg Pirates did not affect the ex-collegian's amateur status.

OUT IN CALIFORNIA they're going to operate on a boy to cure him of a fondness for baseball. A trip round the circuit with the Cleveland Naps might be a safer and less expensive remedy.

CAP BRICKLEY has been spending his vacation practicing drop kicking in the Blue Ridge mountains. We have it on good authority that Harvard will send 10 other men on the gridiron with him in October, however. The rules demand it.

AN EXPERT opines that golf failures are due to fatigue of the brain. Caused by trying to invent permissible, yet satisfying, expletives following the missing of a six-inch putt, no doubt.

THEY SAY the war may send the price of baseballs up. More likely, the fact that J. Franklin Baker appears to be in a slugging mood on the eve of another world's series.

GEORGES CARPENTIER has been assigned to the aviation corps in the French army. Gunboat Smith says the drop from an airship is a wee bit longer than those the French champion has been accustomed to.

EDDIE COLLINS is the most valuable player in baseball and doesn't have to advance any claims along those lines. Possibly that is the reason the jury of experts never has selected him for the honor.

IN THE number of fights they have on hand, Heine Zimmerman and Germany easily lead.

CHAPPELLE COMES BACK

Arthur Chappelle, the king of the American motorcycle racers, who is the latest of the sporting "comebacks." He has had nearly every bone in his body broken in racing accidents and anounced after a particularly serious one last year that he was through with the racing game. He's back at the game again, though—says he simply couldn't keep away.

MRS. CARMAN IS INDICTED FOR FIRST DEGREE MURDER

Placed in Jail Until Date of Trial on Charge of Killing Mrs. Louise Bailey

MINEOLA, N. Y., Sept. 10.—Mrs. Florence Carman, wife of Dr. Edwin Carman, wealthy Freeport physician, will be tried for murder in the first degree.

Accused of killing Mrs. Louise Bailey, who was one of her husband's patients, Mrs. Carman was indicted by the Nassau county grand jury today.

The charge of first degree murder supercedes the one of manslaughter returned by the same jury a few weeks after Mrs. Bailey was shot in the physician's office on June 30.

The new indictment was based on the testimony of witnesses produced since the grand jury first considered the case. District Attorney Louis J. Smith said tonight that four other witnesses who have not testified will appear at the trial with stories corroborating the persons whom the jury questioned.

Mrs. Carman has been out on $15,000 bail since her arraignment on the first indictment. Today, however, Supreme Court Justice Kelly said he would not set a precedent by admitting a person charged with first degree murder to bail, and Mrs. Carman was remanded to the sheriff's care, which means she will be in jail until the day of the trial, the date of which has not been set.

During the 63 years he has been rector of North Tawton, Devon, England, the Rev. Robert Hole has been away from his parish only three Sundays.

GERMANS SAVED MANY PICTURES WHILE LOUVAIN WAS BURNING, REPORT

LONDON, Sept. 10.—Official Berlin dispatches received here by Marconi wireless, says:

"While Louvain was burning, German officers carried pictures from the cathedral to the Hotel de Ville for their protection.

"Emperor William and Prince Leopold have exchanged cordial and sympathetic telegrams on the occasion of the heroic death of Prince Herbert of Lippe, who is the third member of the house of Lippe to fall in this war.

"According to London papers, fighting has been proceeding since September 7 east of Paris on a line between Auteuil, Meaux and Vitry-le-Francois. Early French reports of a victory have since proved to be exaggerated, for the allies do not appear to be able to maintain the former success of their offensive movement."

AMSTERDAM, Sept. 10.—The Berlin newspaper Vorwaerts prints an article protesting against cruel treatment of prisoners of war and adds that if the reports of cruelties, of which it cites alleged cases, are true, the severest measures should be adopted to stop them.

The Vorwaerts gives Herr Haub, a member of the reichstag, as authority for the statement that a male nurse, who wrote the last testament of a dying French count, was subjected to corporal punishment. It also quotes a report received from Liebenstein, Sax-Meining, describing how a party of Belgian prisoners being transported through the town was attacked by a furious mob, which seized and lynched a priest who was among the prisoners because he was accused of having incited the Belgian populace to commit atrocities on German soldiers.

LONDON, Sept. 10.—A Berlin official dispatch by Marconi wireless says:

"The party board of the German Socialist party has raised a protest against the manifesto issued by the executive committee on the ground that suspicion is cast upon the humanity of German soldiers. This, the board adds, is calculated to influence neutral countries against Germany."

CONDITIONS AT TRIESTE, AUSTRIA, DEPRESSING

ROME, Sept. 10.—A telegram from Trieste, Austria, says that conditions there are depressing. All lines of business on the harbor front are suspended and more than 10,000 persons are without employment. The only boats arriving are marked Red Cross and carry wounded soldiers.

Reports have reached here that Austria has sent men, arms and money into northern Albania to be used for raids in Servia.

BORDEAUX IS TWICE CAPITAL OF FRANCE

As in 1871, French Remove Seat of Government From Paris

By GEORGE DUFRESNE,

Staff Correspondent of the International News Service.

PARIS, Sept. 10.—The removal of the French capital from Paris to Bordeaux affords only another of the striking instances in which the war of 1914 is repeating the history of the Franco-Prussian war of 1870.

In 1871, after the defeat of MacMahon, the capture of Napoleon III and the establishment of the "Third Republic," the capital of France was removed to Bordeaux, which remained the French capital until the conclusion of peace.

When the former siege of Paris by the Prussians was seen to be inevitable, shortly after the proclamation of the "Third Republic," in September, 1870, the provisional government caused the capital to be removed to Tours. It remained there until that city was in danger of investment by the Germans, when the government and the archives were taken to Bordeaux. That city remained the capital of the provisional government for three months, when the national assembly convened there and formed a permanent government. Preliminary terms of peace were formulated in Bordeaux, and the French government did not return to Paris until peace was finally and formally concluded at Frankfort.

359 Miles From Paris.

Bordeaux is 359 miles southwest of Paris, on the Orleans railway. It is a city of 240,000 inhabitants, situated on the left bank of the River Garonne, 60 miles from the sea, in the center of the wine-growing district of Medoc. It is the fourth seaport in France in commercial importance.

But before Bordeaux became the seat of government in 1871, it had been prominent in the affairs of turbulent France. It was the head of the Girondist movement in the Revolution and suffered much in the "Reign of Terror."

As in 1871, the present removal of the seat of government was announced simply as a "matter of precaution" and was promised to be only temporary. The Prussians held the north of France and were at the very gates of Paris. After the defeat at Sedan, September 1, 1870, the people rose up against Napoleon, who was a prisoner in a Prussian castle. A government of national defense was formed to carry on the forlorn campaign against the Prussians. Its head was Leon Gambetta. From this government of national defense arose a "Third Republic" on the ruins of the "Third Empire," and the first session of the national assembly was held at Bordeaux.

Situation Today Similar.

The situation today is much the same as 44 years ago, except that there is no possibility that the French form of government will be overturned. The Germans crossed the northern frontier despite the stubborn resistance of the allies, and arrived within a few miles of Paris. The German right wing steadily pushed back the French left and when the capital was ordered moved to Bordeaux, the nearest Germans were only 40 miles from Paris.

The government, in announcing the removal, said there was no danger of the Germans taking Paris, but it was deemed advisable to move the seat of government and the archives, because it was possible that Paris might again have to face a state of siege, and in any event, the army of the allies would have to use the forts defending the capital as a pivotal point in the fighting.

As in 1871, the inhabitants of Paris were advised to keep calm, that there was no real danger. They were told that in the opinion of the government the enemy would not get near enough to besiege the city, and if they did, they could not take it. French people were advised to remain in Paris, but all foreigners, including at least 6,000 Americans, were warned to leave for the United States or England.

Prepare for Siege.

In the meantime Paris was in a state that reminded veterans of the stirring days of 1871. Everywhere stern preparations were being made to withstand a siege, while even those making the preparations solemnly declared they had no idea a siege would come. Everywhere trenches were dug, ramparts thrown up and cannon planted to supplement the defenses of the wall of Paris and the 80 miles of costly and powerful forts that encircle the city.

Troops were poured into the forts and everything was put in readiness for the coming of the invaders. Strangely enough, there was no panic noticeable. Even while bombardments by German aeroplanes became matters of daily and nightly occurrence, houses were set on fire and people killed and wounded by these missiles from the sky, the people of Paris became calmer and more cheerful. They exhibited a stoicism in great contrast to the traditional volatile excitability of the French nation.

Union of South Africa to Help Mother Country

CAPE TOWN, Sept. 10.—In a stirring speech to the assembly of the Union of South Africa, Premier Botha today promised the whole-hearted support of the union to the imperial government in the present war, and declared that the racial hatchet had been buried.

As a proof of the union's determination to assist in maintaining the integrity of the empire, he announced that the government had undertaken to carry through military operations in German Southwest Africa.

The premier revealed that German forces already had entered on union territory. They were intrenched at certain points in kopjes and a large armed German force was on the frontier of the union.

The premier said that the imperial government had come to the financial assistance of the union by lending it $35,000,000.

Only Two Out of 100 in the French Army Are Killed

LONDON, Sept. 10.—The Bordeaux correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph company states that according to a member of the health department in the ministry of war, the present European war was not resulting in a very heavy loss of life.

"Of every 100 men participating, only two are killed," this official said.

"Our wounded are numerous, but their injuries are generally slight, most being hurt in the arms or legs and the wounds almost invariably heal rapidly. Many of those wounded already have returned to the front. However, our low mortality rate may be attributed in part to the poor aim of the Germans."

AUSTRIAN EMPEROR SAID TO BE MUCH IMPROVED IN HEALTH

MANCHESTER, Mass., Sept. 10.—Dr. Konstantine Theodore Dumba, Austro-Hungarian ambassador to the United States, tonight made public the following wireless message from the foreign secretary of his government in Vienna:

"Emperor continues to enjoy best of health.

"Another battle begun in Lemberg district. Russians persist in spreading false reports about alleged Russian victories intending to relieve depressed public feeling in France.

"Energetic protest of kaiser to President Wilson against barbarous use of dumdum bullets, calls forth here warmest response.

"Four thousand Servian prisoners of war passed Budapest today on the way to Estergom to be encamped with 20,000 Russians already there.

"Austrian official correspondence bureau denies statement of Russian paper Vestnik about alleged great victories of Russians in Lemberg; states once more Austrians evacuated Lemberg without previous fighting. Vestnik's news about 70,000 prisoners made by Russians on that occasion also pure invention. As to Vestnik's denial of Auffenberg's victory, refer to respective official announcements of Austrian military headquarters. Vestnik will by these lies not succeed to hide our victories.

(Signed)

"COUNT BERCHTOLDT."

To this, the ambassador added:

"The above mentioned official announcement, on September 2, mentioned the Russians repulsed over the Bug river, suffering heavy losses and losing 150 guns."

The Vestnik, or St. Petersburg's Agence Telegraphique, is the semiofficial Russian news agency with headquarters at Petrograd.

BRITISH DEFEAT THE GERMANS IN AFRICA

LONDON, Sept. 10.—British troops have met and defeated a German force of 400 which entered Nyassaland, British Central Africa, according to the announcement made by the official press bureau, which adds:

"The Germans lost seven officers killed and two wounded, two field and machine guns. The loss among the rank and file has not been ascertained, but was heavy.

"On September 8, a British force advanced against the Germans, who, however, evaded them and attacked the British station at Karonga (on the northwest shore of Lake Nyassa at the terminus of the Stevenson road) which was defended by one officer, 50 African rifles, the police and eight civilians.

"After three hours' resistance, a column arrived from the British force and drove the enemy off. Later the main British force came up, and after a day's fighting, in which the Germans fought with great determination and had to be dislodged by repeated bayonet charges, drove the enemy toward the Songwe river. The British were too exhausted to continue the pursuit."

GRAND CIRCUIT RESULTS

HARTFORD, Conn., Sept. 10.—Tommy Murphy made a clean sweep of the four events carded for the final day of the Grand Circuit meeting at Charter Oak park this afternoon, taking the trotting division of the Matron stake with Peter Volo, the pacing division of the same stake with Anna Bradford, winning the 2:24 trot with Barbara Overton and the free-for-all pace with Frank Bogash, Jr. All the races went in straight heats and the favorites ran true to form.

Balch, Tiger Quarter, Forced to Quit Squad

Harry Balch, candidate for quarterback for the Tigers this year and a member of last year's team, probably will return to his home in Greeley this morning, having received a telegram yesterday stating that his mother is seriously ill. Balch and "Shorty" Ross look like the best bets for the pivot position this year. Balch probably will be back next week.

ALONG THE SPORTSMAN'S BEAT

"GROSSE SCHWEIGER," a term applied to Count Von Moltke, the German fighting machine's brains, might be applied to the Colorado college Tenton star. If Schweiger shows as much fight as his namesake, then—look out, Boulder!

NOT A BEAR yarn yet!

TIME TO GET busy and sprain something.

NEWS OF the School of Mines' mobilization of players seems to have been censored. But generally we find our Golden friends fairly well prepared when the Tiger game comes. To wit—last fall.

THE MINNESOTA shift has been renamed the German flank movement. Both have proved highly successful.

AND YET no Zeppelin has dropped a bomb on McGraw, the Boulder pitcher. Twenty-two Tigers whiffed!

MERCY, NO, it is not within the bounds of etiquette to cheer for your college while eating or after eating in the commons dining room at the college. While a cheer is being started, some poor freshman might be gnawing a chicken wing and might accidentally snuff it into his lungs in an effort to outyell his neighbor.

By STONEY M'LINN—

BILL CARRIGAN, the Red Sox manager, predicts that the Athletics will win the pennant. He also may be induced to venture the opinion that Christmas this year will fall on Friday, December 25.

OUTFIELDER FALSEY, Yale's star last spring, may play with one of the ball teams James E. Sullivan will take to the Olympic games. A couple of months with the Pittsburg Pirates did not affect the ex-collegian's amateur status.

OUT IN CALIFORNIA they're going to operate on a boy to cure him of a fondness for baseball. A trip round the circuit with the Cleveland Naps might be a safer and less expensive remedy.

CAP BRICKLEY has been spending his vacation practicing drop-kicking in the Blue Ridge mountains. We have it on good authority that Harvard will send 10 other men on the gridiron with him in October, however. The rules demand it.

AN EXPERT opines that golf failures are due to fatigue of the brain. Caused by trying to invent permissible, yet satisfying, expletives following the missing of a six-inch putt, no doubt.

THEY SAY the war may send the price of baseballs up. More likely, the fact that J. Franklin Baker appears to be in a slugging mood on the eve of another world's series.

GEORGES CARPENTIER has been assigned to the aviation corps in the French army. Gunboat Smith says the drop from an airship is a wee bit longer than those the French champion has been accustomed to.

EDDIE COLLINS is the most valuable player in baseball and doesn't have to advance any claims along those lines. Possibly that is the reason the jury of experts never has selected him for the honor.

IN THE number of fights they have on hand, Heine Zimmerman and Germany easily lead.

CHAPPELLE COMES BACK

Arthur Chappelle, the king of the American motorcycle racers, who is the latest of the sporting "comebacks." He has had nearly every bone in his body broken in racing accidents and anounced after a particularly serious one last year that he was through with the racing game. He's back at the game again, though—says he simply couldn't keep away.

MRS. CARMAN IS INDICTED FOR FIRST DEGREE MURDER

Placed in Jail Until Date of Trial on Charge of Killing Mrs. Louise Bailey

MINEOLA, N. Y., Sept. 10.—Mrs. Florence Carman, wife of Dr. Edwin Carman, wealthy Freeport physician, will be tried for murder in the first degree.

The charge of first degree murder supercedes the one of manslaughter returned by the same jury a few weeks after Mrs. Bailey was shot in the physician's office on June 30.

The new indictment was based on the testimony of witnesses produced since the grand jury first considered the case. District Attorney Louis J. Smith said tonight that four other witnesses who have not testified will appear at the trial with stories corroborating the persons whom the jury questioned.

Mrs. Carman has been out on $15,000 bail since her arraignment on the first indictment. Today, however, Supreme Court Justice Kelly said he would not set a precedent by admitting a person charged with first degree murder to bail, and Mrs. Carman was remanded to the sheriff's care, which means she will be in jail until the day of the trial, the date of which has not been set.

During the 63 years he has been rector of North Tawton, Devon, England, the Rev. Robert Hole has been away from his parish only three Sundays.

GERMANS SAVED MANY PICTURES WHILE LOUVAIN WAS BURNING, REPORT

LONDON, Sept. 10.—Official Berlin dispatches received here by Marconi wireless, says:

"While Louvain was burning, German officers carried pictures from the cathedral to the Hotel de Ville for their protection.

"Emperor William and Prince Leopold have exchanged cordial and sympathetic telegrams on the occasion of the heroic death of Prince Herbert of Lippe, who is the third member of the house of Lippe to fall in this war.

"According to London papers, fighting has been proceeding since September 7 east of Paris [illegible] between Auteuil, Meaux and Vitry-le-Francois. Early French reports of a victory have since proved to be [illegible] for the allies do not appear to be able to maintain the former success of their offensive movement."

AMSTERDAM, Sept. 10.—The Berlin newspaper Vorwaerts prints an article protesting against cruel treatment of prisoners of war and adds that if the reports of cruelties, of which it cites alleged cases, are true, the severest measures should be adopted to stop them.

The Vorwaerts gives Herr [illegible], a member of the reichstag, as authority for the statement that a male nurse, who wrote the last testament of a dying French count, was subjected to corporal punishment. It also quotes a report received from Liebenstein, Sax-Meining, describing how a party of Belgian prisoners being transported through the town was attacked by a furious mob, which seized and lynched a priest who was among the prisoners because he was accused of having incited the Belgian populace to commit atrocities on German soldiers.

LONDON, Sept. 10.—A Berlin official dispatch by Marconi wireless says:

"The party board of the German Socialist party has raised a protest against the manifesto issued by the executive committee on the ground that suspicion is cast upon the humanity of German soldiers. This, the board adds, is calculated to influence neutral countries against Germany."

BORDEAUX IS TWICE CAPITAL OF FRANCE

As in 1871, French Remove Seat of Government from Paris

By GEORGE DUFRESNE,
Staff Correspondent of the International News Service.

PARIS, Sept. 10.—The removal of the French capital from Paris to Bordeaux affords only another of the striking instances in which the war of 1914 is repeating the history of the Franco-Prussian war of 1870.

In 1871, after the defeat of MacMahon, the capture of Napoleon III and the establishment of the "Third Republic," the capital of France was removed to Bordeaux, which remained the French capital until the conclusion of peace.

When the former siege of Paris by the Prussians was seen to be inevitable, shortly after the proclamation of the "Third Republic," in September, 1870, the provisional government caused the capital to be removed to Tours. It remained there until that city was in danger of investment by the Germans, when the government and the archives were taken to Bordeaux. That city remained the capital of the provisional government for three months, when the national assembly convened there and formed a permanent government. Preliminary terms of peace were formulated in Bordeaux, and the French government did not return to Paris until peace was finally and formally concluded at Frankfort.

359 Miles From Paris.

Bordeaux is 359 miles southwest of Paris, on the Orleans railway. It is a city of 246,600 inhabitants, situated on the left bank of the River Garonne, 60 miles from the sea, in the center of the wine-growing district of Medoc. It is the fourth seaport in France in commercial importance.

But before Bordeaux became the seat of government in 1871, it had been prominent in the affairs of turbulent France. It was the head of the Girondist movement in the Revolution and suffered much in the "Reign of Terror."

As in 1871, the present removal of the seat of government was announced simply as a "matter of precaution" and was promised to be only temporary. The Prussians held the north of France and were at the very gates of Paris. After the defeat at Sedan, September 1, 1870, the people rose up against Napoleon, who was a prisoner in a Prussian castle. A government of national defense was formed to carry on the forlorn campaign against the Prussians. Its head was Leon Gambetta.

From this government of national defense arose a "Third Republic" on the ruins of the "Third Empire," and the first session of the national assembly was held at Bordeaux.

Situation Today Similar.

The situation today is much the same as 44 years ago, except that there is no possibility that the French form of government will be overturned. The Germans crossed the northern frontier despite the stubborn resistance of the allies and arrived within a few miles of Paris. The German right wing steadily pushed back the French left and when the capital was ordered moved to Bordeaux, the nearest Germans were only 40 miles from Paris.

The government, in announcing the removal, said there was no danger of the Germans taking Paris, but it was deemed advisable to move the seat of government and the archives, because it was possible that Paris might again have to face a state of siege, and in any event, the army of the allies would have to use the forts defending the capital as a pivotal point in the fighting.

As in 1871, the inhabitants of Paris were advised to keep calm, that there was no real danger. They were told that in the opinion of the government the enemy would not get near enough to besiege the city, and if they did, they could not take it. French people were advised to remain in Paris, but all foreigners, including at least 6,000 Americans, were warned to leave for the United States or England.

Prepare for Siege.

In the meantime Paris was in a state that reminded veterans of the stirring days of 1871. Everywhere stern preparations were being made to withstand a siege, while even those making the preparations solemnly declared they had no idea a siege would come. Everywhere trenches were dug, ramparts thrown up and cannon planted to supplement the defenses of the wall of Paris and the 80 miles of costly and powerful forts that encircle the city.

Troops were poured into the forts and everything was put in readiness for the coming of the invaders. Strangely enough, there was no panic noticeable. Even while bombardments by German aeroplanes became matters of daily and nightly occurrence, houses were set on fire and people killed and wounded by these missiles from the sky, the people of Paris became calmer and more cheerful. They exhibited a stoicism in great contrast to the traditional volatile excitability of the French nation.

Union of South Africa to Help Mother Country

CAPE TOWN, Sept. 10.—In a stirring speech to the assembly of the Union of South Africa, Premier Botha today promised the whole-hearted support of the union to the imperial government in the present war, and declared that the racial hatchet had been buried.

As a proof of the union's determination to assist in maintaining the integrity of the empire, he announced that the government had undertaken to carry through military operations in German Southwest Africa.

The premier revealed that German forces already had entered on union territory. They were intrenched at certain points in kopjes and a large armed German force was on the frontier of the union.

The premier said that the imperial government had come to the financial assistance of the union by lending it $35,000,000.

Only Two Out of 100 in the French Army Are Killed

LONDON, Sept. 10.—The Bordeaux correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph company states that according to a member of the health department in the ministry of war, the present European war was not resulting in a very heavy loss of life.

"Of every 100 men participating, only two are killed," this official said.

"Our wounded are numerous, but their injuries are generally slight, most being hurt in the arms or legs and the wounds almost invariably heal rapidly. Many of those wounded already have returned to the front. However, our low mortality rate may be attributed in part to the poor aim of the Germans."

AUSTRIAN EMPEROR SAID TO BE MUCH IMPROVED IN HEALTH

MANCHESTER, Mass., Sept. 10.—Dr. Konstantine Theodore Dumba, Austro-Hungarian ambassador to the United States, tonight made public the following wireless message from the foreign secretary of his government in Vienna:

"Emperor continues to enjoy best of health.

"Another battle begun in Lemberg district. Russians persist in spreading false reports about alleged Russian victories intending to relieve depressed public feeling in France.

"Energetic protest of kaiser to President Wilson against barbarism, use of dumdum bullets, calls forth here warmest response.

"Four thousand Servian prisoners of war passed Budapest today on the way to Estergom to be encamped with 20,000 Russians already there.

"Austrian official correspondence bureau denies statement of Russian paper Vestnik about alleged great victories of Russians in Lemberg; states once more Austrians evacuated Lemberg without previous fighting. Vestnik's news about 70,000 prisoners made by Russians on that occasion also pure invention. As to Vestnik's denial of Auffenberg's victory, refer to respective official announcements of Austrian military headquarter. Vestnik will by these lies not succeed to hide our victories.

(Signed) "COUNT BERCHTOLDT."

To this, the ambassador added:

"The above mentioned official announcement, on September 2, mentioned the Russians repulsed over the Bug river, suffering heavy losses and losing 150 guns."

The Vestnik, or St. Petersburg's Agence Telegraphique, is the semiofficial Russian news agency with headquarters at Petrograd.

BRITISH DEFEAT THE GERMANS IN AFRICA

LONDON, Sept. 10.—British troops have met and defeated a German force of 400 which entered Nyassaland, British Central Africa, according to the announcement made by the official press bureau, which adds:

"The Germans lost seven officers killed and two wounded, two field and machine guns. The loss among the rank and file has not been ascertained, but was heavy.

"On September 8, a British force advanced against the Germans, who, however, evaded them and attacked the British station at Karonga (on the northwest shore of Lake Nyassa at the terminus of the Stevenson road) which was defended by one officer, 50 African rifles, the police and eight civilians.

"After three hours' resistance, a column arrived from the British force and drove the enemy off. Later the main British force came up, and after a day's fighting, in which the Germans fought with great determination and had to be dislodged by repeated bayonet charges, drove the enemy toward the Songwe river. The British were too exhausted to continue the pursuit."

What the Press Agents Say

THE BURNS

Of plays made from novels there has been no end. Among the best of these is the dramatization of the late Myrtle Reed's immensely popular "Lavender and Old Lace," a story which had 40 editions. Miss Reed wrote a score of books, of which the one now given to the stage was probably the best.

None of the interesting characters in "Lavender and Old Lace" are lost in the transplanting of the story to the stage. There is Miss Ainslie, the loving and lonely "Lavender lady," the manly Carl, the curious Hepsey, and Ruth, Joe, Jane Hathaway and the villain, who made the pages of Miss Reed's book so interesting. The story had its first printing more than 10 years ago, yet it is in demand today in a way which suggests its popularity will never be diminished.

Tonight and tomorrow matinee and night the Burns Players will appear for the last time in "Lavender and Old Lace." The play selected for next week is "Our Wives," which will conclude the present stock season.

OPERA HOUSE

"A Wrecker of Lives," in three parts, is a tragic story of an innocent man's punishment for the crime of another. The story carries a powerful appeal, and throbs with spirited action and wholesome excitement. Mary Pickford always pleases her admirers. She will be seen in her popular play, "Simple Charity."

"MILESTONES"

"Milestones," the beautiful drama of Arnold Bennett and Edward Knoblauch with a record of two years in London and one year in New York, will be seen at the Opera house next Monday.

This dainty production is unique in idea and treatment. So entirely natural is the development of the story that the fall of the curtain finds the auditor smiling through his tears. "Milestones" is a rare play that appeals equally to all ages, though the characters are carried through three generations, the spirit of youth and romance dominates every scene.

The changing dresses in 1860, 1885 and 1912 instruct and delight, one notes the change, too, in speech and manners. Youth alone does not change, nor Cupid, whose arrows fly with unerring aim in every age. For the interpretation of the difficult roles a remarkable company has been selected, which includes Florence Born, Mary Goulden, Winefride Latimer, Katherine Herbert, Bettie Harnell, Rupert Harvey, Gerald Rogers, L. G. Carroll, Ernest Laceley and Gilbert Coleman.

"OUR MUTUAL GIRL"

There will be three feature pictures at the Empress today. "Jean of the Wilderness," in two reels; it's a Thanhouser and one of the many good ones produced by this company. "Lola," in two reels, an American feature with Ed Agnew and Winifred Greenwood in the leading roles, and "Our Mutual Girl."

In the first installment of "Our Mutual Girl," by Carolyn Wells, is found the natural consequences of a woman author taking up the thread of a girl's career. Thrills are by no means lacking, because Miss Wells is a virile writer and adds dramatic values to the deft touch of a woman. So she arranges that Margaret's grief on the loss of Dunbar's friendship shall be somewhat assuaged in the purchase of new hats and frocks, particularly because "Our Mutual Girl" is to visit Gloucester and Newport and other famous and fashionable early fall resorts.

As Margaret motored up Fifth avenue, she ordered her chauffeur to stop at her florist's. "Back in a minute," Margaret told him, and she was back in a minute, but to find the interior of her car very much changed.

Over on the seat was a cooing, gurgling baby.

"You perfect angel!" Margaret said. "Where did you drop from!" But the baby merely gurgled. Baby "Ily."

"Oh, you are Baby Lily—are you!" Margaret asked, "and where did you come from?"

At this moment a [illegible] came up to Margaret and [illegible] that he saw a woman put the baby in the car. He offered to take the child to the police. The chauffeur also suggested that the baby should go to the police, but Margaret would have none of it and determined, then and there that, if Lily's mother did not appear, she herself would adopt the child.

But Margaret had counted without Mrs. Knickerbocker. Her aunt was horrified at the idea of this strange baby being brought into the house and told Margaret she would have to get rid of it immediately. Margaret, however, determined that her old negro Mammy Sally should take temporary charge of the child.

The next day Margaret started for Gloucester, where she is to visit the John Hays Hammonds.

CHICAGO MARKET

CHICAGO, Sept 10. Wheat suffered a decided setback in price today, mainly because of a movement in congress to suspend the import duty on that cereal. The market closed heavy 2 to 2⅝c lower than Tuesday night. Other leading staples underwent a severe net decline—corn 1⅛c to 2@2⅛c, oats 2⅛ to 2⅜c, and provisions 30 to $1.35.

Before news came from Washington regarding an attempt to remove the tariff on wheat, the market here, influenced by a notable lack of speculative offerings, had scored a sharp advance, reaching 2⅝c above Tuesday's final figures. Differences between the top prices of the session and the lowest level subsequently showed an extreme tumble of 4⅝c a bushel.

Corn had poor support and was handicapped by a bearish construction placed on the government crop report, the estimated yield being larger than expected.

Peace talk and the break in other grain carried down oats. Many stop loss orders were executed on the decline.

Big liquidating sales by holders made the provision market verge on a semi-panic. Brokers presumably acting for packers tried to stem the tide at times, but met with only indifferent success. The flurry came about chiefly because of the weakness in grain.

BELGIANS LOST 14,000 IN SIEGE OF NAMUR; FORTRESS UNABLE TO STAND SHELLING

OSTEND, Belgium, Sept. 10. The remnant of the Namur garrison has arrived here, bringing a story which explains why a stronghold believed to be nearly impregnable, fell. Of 26,000 men in the forts in the environs of Namur, 12,000 have returned to Belgian soil, making the Belgian loss at Namur in killed, wounded and missing 14,000.

It seems that under cover of a fog, the Germans finally got their siege guns into positions from which they could concentrate their fire on a single point of the Namur defenses. The guns were at a minimum distance of three miles from the Belgian trenches and consequently outranged the Belgian guns.

Unable to Reply

"Without troubling about the forts," said one of the survivors, "the Germans first centered their rain of steel upon our intrenchments. For 10 hours our brave young fellows stood the terrible ordeal, unable to fire a shot in return. Any man risking his head above the ramparts had it blown off. Lying flat on our stomachs all we could do was to wait for the firing to end. Whole regiments were being decimated. The loss among our officers was terrible.

"Meanwhile, many German guns had been turned on the forts, especially Maizeret and Marchovelette. The men in these, armed with guns of much smaller caliber than the Germans could offer but feeble resistance. Maizeret, in fact fired only about 10 shots while receiving no less than 1,200 shells at the rate of 20 a minute.

Great Confusion Ensues.

"The other works, however, were still holding out when the army left town. So much confidence had been placed in General Michel and his staff's ability to hold the fortress that the eventual retirement of the forces had not been provided for and as a result the greatest confusion ensued.

"No provision had been made for the destruction of the stores and these, together with the fortress' artillery and most of the field artillery, fell into hands of the enemy. At the cadet school alone was a store of 3,000,000 rations.

"The ambulance corps was a heavy sufferer through lack of organization, losing 150 out of 600 men. Many of our sick and wounded were left behind in Namur but such as could be moved were got through to the French lines and eventually were transferred to French hospitals.

"On the retreat the narrow road was choked with men, horses and vehicles. Of our enormous park of motor cars only two were saved, for the Germans entered the town close on our heels.

Disappointment Bitter.

"We were doomed to disappointment after disappointment. The French had been obliged to fall back and could only send us two regiments. These bravely fought their way to us, joining us in greatly reduced numbers not far from Namur. Our generals had believed that the destruction of the bridge at Jambes would cover our retreat but the Germans, moving more rapidly, cut our retreat six miles from Namur, at Boise de Villers, where their machine guns made a clean sweep of several motors filled with Belgian officers. At last we cut through, but at a terrible loss.

"Here the Eighth and Thirteenth regiments especially distinguished themselves. They lost nearly all of their officers.

"Our troops continued their retreat, ever pursued, ever harassed. Moreover we tumbled right into the path of the French retreat from Charleroi and it was not until we got to Philippeville that our troops were pulled together.

"The next day our retreat was executed in good order. Everywhere we were received with open arms, the inhabitants of towns vieing with one another to give us shelter."

Geography of the War Zone

Geographic Society Issues War Geography Primer

The National Geographic society is issuing in installments a primer of European war geography. The locations and descriptions of many places frequently mentioned in the war news have been printed. Others follow:

NOYON—A city of northern France, 67 miles north of northeast of Paris by the railway to Brussels, and 55 miles on a direct line to the French capital. It is built at the foot and on the slopes of a hill. Noyon, with a population of about 7,000, has a trade in grain and live stock. Its industries are chemical works, tanneries, iron foundries, sawmills and sugar factories. The town was christianized by St. Quentin at the close of the Third century. The English and the Burgundians ravaged the town during the Hundred Years' War. John Calvin was born at Noyon in 1509.

COMPIEGNE—A French town 43 miles from the heart of Paris, with a population exceeding 15,000. Until 1870 it was the occasional residence of the French kings. At the siege of Compiegne in 1430, Jeanne of Arc was taken prisoner by the English. In 1814 the town offered a stubborn resistance to the Prussian troops. From 1870 to 1871 it was one of the headquarters of the German army.

GILGENBURG—A small Prussian town about half way between Tilsit and Koenigsberg. It is but a few miles from the Baltic sea and practically equidistant from Koenigsberg and Insterberg. Its population is about 3,000.

CRACOW—A town in Galicia, Austria, the intellectual center of the Polish nation, five miles from the Russian Poland border and 212 miles west of Lemberg. In 1910 its population was 151,886. It occupies a position of great strategical importance. In Cracow is the Stanislaus cathedral where the kings of Poland were crowned and the rulers and great men lie buried. On the third partition of Poland, in 1795, Austria took Cracow. In 1809 Napoleon incorporated it with the Duchy of Warsaw. In 1850 the powers of Europe made Cracow a free state. Following an insurrection in 1846, Russia, Austria and Prussia gave it to Austria.

AMIENS—A city of northern France, capital of the department of Somme, is on the left bank of the Somme, 81 miles north of Paris by rail and 35 miles from the English channel. Its population is approximately 85,000. The city was once a place of great strength, but boulevards, bordered by handsome residences, have replaced the ramparts which surrounded it. The famous treaty between Great Britain, France, Spain and Holland which took its name from Amiens was signed there on March 25, 1802. During the war between France and Germany, Amiens, after an important action, fell into the hands of Prussians on November 28, 1870. Textile industries for which Amiens has been celebrated since the middle ages, include manufactures of velvet, cotton, wool, silk, hemp and flax spinning and the weaving of hosiery and a variety of mixed fabrics. Machinery, chemicals, blacking, polish and sugar are also manufactured. Amiens occupies the site of the ancient Samarabriva, capital of the Ambiani, from whom it probably derives its name.

PERONNE—A town of northern France on the right bank of the Somme, at its confluence with the Cologne, 35 miles east-by-north of Amiens by rail. In 1536 Charles V besieged Peronne, but without success. In its defense a woman called Marie Foure greatly distinguished herself, and a statue of her stands in the town. Peronne's greatest misfortunes occurred during the Franco-German war, when it was invested and bombarded from December 28, 1870, to January 9, 1871, upon which date, on account of the sufferings of the civil population, among whom smallpox had broken out, it was compelled to capitulate. Its population approximates 5,000.

ARMENTIERES—A town of northern France on the Lys, 13 miles west of northwest of Lille. It has a population of approximately 28,000. The town is an important center for the spinning and weaving of flax and cotton; bleaching, dyeing and the manufacture of machinery are among the other industries.

LAON—A town of northern France, 87 miles northeast of Paris, with a population of about 11,000. It is situated on an isolated ridge which rises some 330 feet above the surrounding plain and the little river of Ardon. From the railway station a straight staircase of several hundred steps leads to the gate of the town and all the roads connecting Laon with the surrounding districts are cut in zig-zags on the steep slopes. Laon forms, with La Fere and Reims, a triangle of important fortresses. Its fortifications consist of an inner line of works on the eminence of Laon itself and two groups of detached forts, one from two and a half miles southeast about the village of Bruyeres, the other about three miles west of southwest, near Laniscourt. In 1814 Napoleon tried in vain to dislodge Blucher from Laon. In 1870 an engineer blew up the powder magazine of the citadel as the German troops were entering the town.

BETHUNE—A town of northern France, 24 miles north of northwest of Arras, with a population of about 14,000. Once strongly fortified, it is now surrounded by wide boulevards. Bethune lies in the midst of the richest coal mines in France. Its industries include the distillation of oil, tanning, salt refining, brewing and the manufacture of earthenware and casks. Ceded to France in 1678 by the peace of Nijmegen, it was taken by the allied forces in 1710 and restored to France by the treaty of Utrecht.

GRAUDENZ—A town in west Prussia on the right bank of the Vistula, 37 miles north by northwest of Thorn and 30 miles from Russian Poland. It is an important place in the system of German fortifications and has a garrison of considerable size. Its fortress, which since 1873 has been used as a barracks and military depot and as a prison, is situated on a steep eminence about one and a half miles north of the town and outside its limits. It was completed by Frederick the Great in 1776 and was rendered famous through its defense by Courbière against the French in 1807. Graudenz is a place of considerable manufacturing activities. From 1655 to 1759 it was held by Sweden and in 1772 it came into the possession of Prussia. It has a population of about 40,000.

BORDEAUX—A city of southwestern France 359 miles south of southwest of Paris, on the Gironde river, 60 miles from the sea, and 125 miles from the Spanish frontier. In 1911 the city had a population of 261,678. Under the Roman empire Bordeaux became a flourishing commercial city and the capital of Aquitania Secunda. It belonged to the English kings from 1154 to 1453, when it was taken by Charles VII of France. It was the headquarters of the Girondists during the revolution, and during the reign of terror suffered severely. In 1870 the French government was transferred to Bordeaux from Tours (to which it had been moved from Paris) on the approach of the Germans to Tours. The trade of Bordeaux, the fourth port of France, is chiefly carried on by sea. From 1,000 to 1,200 vessels can be accommodated in the harbor. The most important industry is shipbuilding and refitting. Ironclads and torpedo boats, as well as merchant vessels, are constructed. The city is the center of trade in "Bordeaux" wines. Other principal exports are brandy, hides and skins, sugar, rice, woolen and cotton goods, salt fish, chemicals, oil cake, pitwood, fruit, potatoes and other vegetables. There are also flour mills, sugar refineries, chemical works, machine shops and potteries.

MONTBELIARD—A town of eastern France, 15 miles from the Alsace border, with a population of about 10,000. It has been an important point in the frontier defenses of France since 1871. Forts on outlying hills connect it with Belfort on the one side and with Besancon on the other. Since 1870 a considerable impetus has been given to Montbeliard's prosperity by the Alsatian immigrants. Its industries include watch and clock making, cotton spinning and weaving, the manufacture of hosiery, textile machinery, tools, nails and wire and brewing. In 1793 the inhabitants voluntarily submitted to annexation by France.

What the Press Agents Say

THE BURNS

Of plays made from novels there has been no end. Among the last of these is the dramatization of the late Myrtle Reed's immensely popular "Lavender and Old Lace," a story which had 40 editions. Miss Reed wrote a score of books, of which the one now given to the stage was probably the best.

None of the interesting characters in "Lavender and Old Lace" are lost in the transplanting of the story to the stage. There is Miss Ainslie, the loving and lonely "Lavender lady, the manly Carl, the curious Hepsey, and Ruth, Joe, Jane Hathaway and the captain, who made the pages of Miss Reed's book so interesting. The story had its first printing more than 10 years ago, yet it is in demand today in a way which suggests its popularity will never be dimmed.

Tonight and tomorrow matinee and night the Burns Players will appear for the last time in "Lavender and Old Lace." The play selected for next week is "Our Wives," which will conclude the present stock season.

OPERA HOUSE

"A Wrecker of Lives," in three parts, is a tragic story of an innocent man's punishment for the crime of another. The story carries a powerful appeal, and throbs with spirited action and wholesome excitement. Mary Pickford always pleases her admirers. She will be seen in her popular play, "Simple Charity."

"MILESTONES"

"Milestones," the beautiful drama of Arnold Bennett and Edward Knoblauch, with a record of two years in London and one year in New York, will be seen at the Opera house next Monday.

This dainty production is unique in idea and treatment. So entirely natural is the development of the story that the fall of the curtain finds the auditor smiling through his tears. "Milestones" is a rare play that appeals equally to all ages, though the characters are carried through three generations, the spirit of youth and romance dominates every scene.

The changing dresses in 1860, 1885 and 1912 instruct and delight; one notes the change, too, in speech and manners. Youth alone does not change, nor Cupid, whose arrows fly with unerring aim in every age. For the interpretation of the difficult roles a remarkable company has been selected, which includes Florance Born, Mary Goulden, Winefride Latimer, Katherine Herbert, Bettie Barnell, Rupert Harvey, Gerald Rogers, L. G. Carroll, Ernest Laceley and Gilbert Coleman.

"OUR MUTUAL GIRL."

There will be three feature pictures at the Empress today: "Jean of the Wilderness," in two reels; it's a Thanhouser and one of the many good ones produced by this company; "Lola," in two reels, an American feature with Ed Agnew and Winifred Greenwood in the leading roles, and "Our Mutual Girl."

In the first installment of "Our Mutual Girl," by Carolyn Wells, is found the natural consequences of a woman author taking up the thread of a girl's career. Thrills are by no means lacking, because Miss Wells is a virile writer and adds dramatic values to the deft touch of a woman. So she arranges that Margaret's grief on the loss of Dunbar's friendship shall be somewhat assuaged in the purchase of new hats and frocks, particularly because "Our Mutual Girl" is to visit Gloucester and Newport and other famous and fashionable early fall resorts.

As Margaret motored up Fifth avenue, she ordered her chauffeur to stop at her florist's. "Back in a minute," Margaret told him, and she was back in a minute, but to find the interior of her car very much changed.

Over on the seat was a cooing, gurgling baby.

"You perfect angel!" Margaret said. "Where did you drop from!" But the baby merely gurgled, "Baby 'Ily."

"Oh, you are Baby Lily, are you!" Margaret asked, "and where did you come from?"

At this moment a well-groomed man came up to Margaret and told her that he saw a woman put the baby in the car. He offered to take the child to the police. The chauffeur also suggested that the baby should go to the police, but Margaret would have none of it, and determined, then and there that, if Lily's mother did not appear, she herself would adopt the child.

But Margaret had counted without Mrs. Knickerbocker. Her aunt was horrified at the idea of this strange baby being brought into the house and told Margaret she would have to get rid of it immediately. Margaret, however, determined that her old negro Mammy Sally should take temporary charge of the child.

The next day Margaret started for Gloucester, where she is to visit the John Hays Hammonds.

CHICAGO MARKET

CHICAGO, Sept. 10.—Wheat suffered a decided setback in price today, mainly because of a movement in congress to suspend the import duty on that cereal. The market closed heavy 2 to 2⅝c lower than Tuesday night. Other leading staples underwent a severe net decline—corn 1⅛c to 2⅜c, oats 2⅛ to 2⅝c, and provisions 50 to $1.35.

Before news came from Washington regarding an attempt to remove the tariff on wheat, the market here, influenced by a notable lack of speculative offerings, had scored a sharp advance, reaching 2⅛c above Tuesday's final figures. Differences between the top prices of the session and the lowest level subsequently showed an extreme tumble of 4⅝c a bushel.

Corn had poor support and was handicapped by a bearish construction placed on the government crop report, the estimated yield being larger than expected.

Peace talk and the break in other grain carried down oats. Many stop loss orders were executed on the decline.

Big liquidating sales by holders made the provision market verge on a semi-panic. Brokers presumably acting for packers tried to stem the tide at times, but met with only indifferent success. The flurry came about chiefly because of the weakness in grain.

OSTEND, Belgium, Sept. 10.—The remnant of the Namur garrison has arrived here, bringing a story which explains why a stronghold believed to be nearly impregnable fell. Of 26,000 men in the forts in the environs of Namur, 12,000 have returned to Belgian soil, making the Belgian loss at Namur in killed, wounded and missing 14,000.

It seems that under cover of a fog, the Germans finally got their siege guns into positions from which they could concentrate their fire on a single point of the Namur defenses. The guns were at a minimum distance of three miles from the Belgian trenches and consequently outranged the Belgian guns.

Unable to Reply.

"Without troubling about the forts," said one of the survivors, "the Germans first centered their rain of steel upon our intrenchments. For 10 hours our brave young fellows stood the terrible ordeal, unable to fire a shot in return. Any man risking his head above the ramparts had it blown off. Lying flat on our stomachs all we could do was to wait for the firing to end. Whole regiments were being decimated. The loss among our officers was terrible.

"Meanwhile, many German guns had been turned on the forts, especially Maizeret and Marchovelette. The men in them, armed with guns of much smaller caliber than the Germans, could offer but feeble resistance. Maizeret, in fact fired only about 10 shots while receiving no less than 1,200 shells at the rate of 20 a minute.

Great Confusion Ensues.

"The other works, however, were still holdings out when the army left town. So much confidence had been placed in General Michel and his staff's ability to hold the fortress that the eventual retirement of the forces had not been provided for and as a result the greatest confusion ensued.

"No provision had been made for the destruction of the stores and these, together with the fortress artillery and most of the field artillery, fell into hands of the enemy. At the cadet school alone was a store of 3,000,000 rations.

"The ambulance corps was a heavy sufferer through lack of organization, losing 150 out of 600 men. Many of our sick and wounded were left behind in Namur but such as could be moved were got through to the French lines and eventually were transferred to French hospitals.

"On the retreat the narrow road was choked with men, horses and vehicles. Of our enormous park of motor cars only two were saved, for the Germans entered the town close on our heels.

Disappointment Bitter.

"We were doomed to disappointment after disappointment. The French had been obliged to fall back and could only send us two regiments. These bravely fought their way to us, joining us in greatly reduced numbers not far from Namur. Our generals had believed that the destruction of the bridge at Jambes would cover our retreat but the Germans, moving more rapidly, cut our retreat six miles from Namur, at Boise de Villers, where their machine guns made a clean sweep of several motors filled with Belgian officers. At last we cut through, but at a terrible loss.

"Here the Eighth and Thirteenth regiments especially distinguished themselves. They lost nearly all of their officers.

"Our troops continued their retreat, ever pursued, ever harassed. Moreover we tumbled right into the path of the French retreat from Charleroi and it was not until we got to Philippeville that our troops were pulled together.

"The next day our retreat was executed in good order. Everywhere we were received with open arms, the inhabitants of towns vieing with one another to give us shelter."

Geography of the War Zone

Geographic Society Issues War Geography Primer

The National Geographic society is issuing in installments a primer of European war geography. The locations and descriptions of many places frequently mentioned in the war news have been printed. Others follow:

NOYON—A city of northern France, 67 miles north of northeast of Paris by the railway to Brussels, and 55 miles on a direct line to the French capital. It is built at the foot and on the slopes of a hill. Noyon, with a population of about 7,000, has a trade in grain and live stock. Its industries are chemical works, tanneries, iron foundries, sawmills and sugar factories. The town was christianized by St. Quentin at the close of the Third century. The English and the Burgundians ravaged the town during the Hundred Years' War. John Calvin was born at Noyon in 1509.

COMPIEGNE—A French town 43 miles from the heart of Paris, with a population exceeding 15,000. Until 1870 it was the occasional residence of the French kings. At the siege of Compiegne in 1430 Joan of Arc was taken prisoner by the English. In 1814 the town offered a stubborn resistance to the Prussian troops. From 1870 to 1871 it was one of the headquarters of the German army.

GILGENBURG—A small Prussian town about half way between Tilsit and Koenigsberg. It is but a few miles from the Baltic sea and practically equidistant from Koenigsberg and Insterberg. Its population is about 3,000.

CRACOW—A town in Galicia, Austria, the intellectual center of the Polish nation, five miles from the Russian Poland border and 212 miles west of Lemberg. In 1910 its population was 151,886. It occupies a position of great stragetical importance. In Cracow is the Stanislaus cathedral, where the kings of Poland were crowned and the rulers and great men lie buried. On the third partition of Poland, in 1795, Austria took Cracow. In 1809 Napoleon incorporated it with the Duchy of Warsaw. In 1850 the powers of Europe made Cracow a free state. Following an insurrection in 1846, Russia, Austria and Prussia gave it to Austria.

AMIENS—A city of northern France, capital of the department of Somme, is on the left bank of the Somme, 81 miles north of Paris by rail and 35 miles from the English channel. Its population is approximately 85,000. The city was once a place of great strength but boulevards, bordered by handsome residences, have replaced the ramparts which surrounded it. The famous treaty between Great Britain, France, Spain and Holland which took its name from Amiens was signed there on March 25, 1802. During the war between France and Germany, Amiens, after an important action, fell into the hands of Prussians on November 28, 1870. Textile industries for which Amiens has been celebrated since the middle ages include manufactures of velvet, cotton, wool, silk, hemp and flax spinning and the weaving of hosiery and a variety of mixed fabrics. Machinery, chemicals, blacking polish, and sugar are also manufactured. Amiens occupies the site of the ancient Samarabriva, capital of the Ambiani, from whom it probably derives its name.

PERONNE—A town of northern France on the right bank of the Somme, at its confluence with the Cologne, 35 miles east-by-north of Amiens by rail. In 1536 Charles V besieged Peronne, but without success. In its defense a woman called Marie Foure greatly distinguished herself, and a statue of her stands in the town. Peronne's greatest misfortunes occurred during the Franco-German war, when it was invested and bombarded from December 28, 1870, to January 9, 1871, upon which date, on account of the sufferings of the civil population, among whom smallpox had broken out, it was compelled to capitulate. Its population approximates 5,000.

ARMENTIERES—A town of northern France on the Lys, 13 miles west of northwest of Lille. It has a population of approximately 28,000. The town is an important center for the spinning and weaving of flax and cotton; bleaching, dyeing and the manufacture of machinery are among the other industries.

LAON—A town of northern France, 87 miles northeast of Paris, with a population of about 11,000. It is situated on an isolated ridge which rises some 330 feet above the surrounding plain and the little river of Ardon. From the railway station a straight staircase of several hundred steps leads to the gate of the town and all the roads connecting Laon with the surrounding districts are cut in zig-zags on the steep slopes. Laon forms, with La Fere and Reims, a triangle of important fortresses. Its fortifications consist of an inner line of works on the eminence of Laon itself and two groups of detached forts, one from two and a half miles southeast about the village of Bruyeres, the other about three miles west of southwest, near Laniscourt. In 1814 Napoleon tried in vain to dislodge Blucher from Laon. In 1870 an engineer blew up the powder magazine of the citadel as the German troops were entering the town.

BETHUNE—A town of northern France, 24 miles north of northwest of Arras, with a population of about 14,000. Once strongly fortified, it is now surrounded by wide boulevards. Bethune lies in the midst of the richest coal mines in France. Its industries include the distillation of oil, tanning, salt refining, brewing and the manufacture of earthenware and casks. Ceded to France in 1678 by the peace of Nijmegen, it was taken by the allied forces in 1710 and restored to France by the treaty of Utrecht.

GRAUDENZ—A town in west Prussia on the right bank of the Vistula, 37 miles north by northwest of Thorn and 30 miles from Russian Poland. It is an important place in the system of German fortifications and has a garrison of considerable size. Its fortress, which since 1873 has been used as a barracks and military depot and as a prison is situated on a steep eminence about one and a half miles north of the town and outside its limits. It was completed by Frederick the Great in 1776 and was rendered famous through its defense by Courbiere against the French in 1807. Graudenz is a place of considerable manufacturing activities. From 1665 to 1759 it was held by Sweden and in 1772 it came into the possession of Prussia. It has a population of about 40,000.

BORDEAUX—A city of southwestern France 359 miles south of southwest of Paris, on the Gironde river, 60 miles from the sea, and 125 miles from the Spanish frontier. In 1911 the city had a population of 261,678. Under the Roman empire Bordeaux became a flourishing commercial city and the capital of Aquitania Secunda. It belonged to the English kings from 1154 to 1453, when it was taken by Charles VII of France. It was the headquarters of the Girondists during the revolution, and during the reign of terror suffered severely. In 1870 the French government was transferred to Bordeaux from Tours (to which it had been moved from Paris) on the approach of the Germans to Tours. The trade of Bordeaux, the fourth port of France, is chiefly carried on by sea. From 1,000 to 1,200 vessels can be accommodated in the harbor. The most important industry is shipbuilding and refitting ironclads and torpedo boats, as well as merchant vessels, are constructed. The city is the center of trade in "Bordeaux" wines. Other principal exports are brandy, hides and skins, sugar, rice, woolen and cotton goods, salt fish, chemicals, oil cake, pitwood, fruit, potatoes and other vegetables. There are also flour mills, sugar refineries, chemical works, machine shops and potteries.

MONTBELIARD—A town of eastern France, 15 miles from the Alsace border, with a population of about 10,000. It has been an important point in the frontier defenses of France since 1871. Forts on outlying hills connect it with Belfort on the one side and with Besancon on the other. Since 1870 a considerable impetus has been given to Montbeliard's prosperity by the Alsatian immigrants. Its industries include watch and clock making, cotton spinning and weaving, the manufacture of hosiery, textile machinery, tools, nails and wire, and brewing. In 1793 the inhabitants voluntarily submitted to annexation by France.
